PH Suggested as Site For Municipal Court

Chief Justice Letter Affects Entire County

The California State Judicial Council, in a series of recommendations for consolidation of Contra Costa's 17 judicial districts, suggests that a consolidated municipal court for the Walnut Creek-Concord area be located in Pleasant Hill.

A letter submitted to the Board of Supervisors by State Supreme Court Chief Justice Phil Gibson says, "The new county building being constructed in Pleasant Hill (on Oak Park Boulevard) is an excellent location for the court).

He added, "We have been informed, however, that all space in this building has been assigned to other county offices.

"BUT THERE is adjacent county-owned land which could be used for a court building," Gibson said.

The court would also embrace the Clayton and Danville districts, and its creation alone would save about $15,000 a year, he said.

He added, "The two-judge central court should be able to absorb the filings of these two courts (Walnut Creek and Concord) without an increase in personnel."

Gibson said that the central county court would have two departments, but there would be no need for a branch court elsewhere.

AND HE said, "There is no adequate (existing) physical facility to house a municipal court in the proposed judicial district."

Gibson's letter will be considered by the Board of Supervisors at its meeting, Tuesday.

It calls for consolidation of all courts in the county into three municipal and three justice courts, with an estimated overall saving of $150,000 per year for county taxpayers.

He said the suggestions have been assembled in accordance with a section of the State Government Code which provides the council will recommend district changes where they are deemed the best solution to existing problems.

THE LETTER recommended a four-judge municipal court in Richmond, covering the present jurisdictions of the Richmond, San Pablo and El Cerrito judicial districts.

Gibson said studies indicate the three judges in the Richmond Municipal Court do not have enough business to keep fully occupied.

He anticipates a $75,000 total saving if the area courts are consolidated.

"The estimated $65,000 cost of the proposed new courtroom and chambers for the El Cerrito Justice Court would also be saved," he added.

ANTIOCH and Pittsburg could be effectively served by a single municipal court, the letter read, replacing the two present part-time justice courts.

In addition, Gibson recommended extension of the northeast boundary of what is now the Antioch Judicial District along Highway 4-24 to Live Oak Avenue.

Savings in the Pittsburg-Antioch area would come to about $25,000, he predicted.

The Brentwood court would include the Oakley and Byron Judicial Districts. It would cost about $14,000 a year less to operate than the existing three courts.

The letter recommended consolidated justice court in either Crockett or Rodeo and one in Martinez.

County Tax Rate Nine Cent Boost Seen Probable

The State Board of Equalization's assessment of Contra Costa utilities at $169,111,010, up only 2.07 per cent ($3,422,890) over last year, has dashed hope for a significant reduction in the county tax rate below the $2.363 per $100 assessed valuation indicated by the preliminary budget.

County Administrator Joseph P. McBrien reported to the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday, that as things now stand, the 8.3 cent tax increase by the county will not be reduced.

COPIES OF the budget were released Tuesday and the board has set August 18 for a public hearing. McBrien said the final budget will probably be available August 25.

McBrien told the board of supervisors that the county's "conservative" estimate of $50 million overall valuation increase, including some $47 million in county-set valuations and about $3 million in the utilities roll proved to be 100 per cent correct.

There is not much the county can do about the low utilities increase, McBrien added, other than to go on record with the State Board of Equalization during its hearings of the next couple of weeks, "that we feel the valuation increase might well have been more."

There is still a possibility of a slight reduction of the tax rate below the $2.363 of the preliminary budget by the time the final budget is adopted. McBrien pointed out that such a reduction would depend on more "precise" information on carry over balances.

HOWEVER, he added, if such a cut occurs, it will be considerably less than if the utility roll had gone up six per cent. This would have meant a $56 million overall increase in valuation, both county assessed and utilities, including a $9 million boost in the utility roll, resulting in at least a two cent decrease in the county tax rate, he explained.

Baldwin To Check Legal Facts of Welfare Test

Congressman John Baldwin said yesterday that when he receives a request for support from Contra Costa Supervisors, he will ask the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare to delve further into the legal aspects of a statement that California can be deprived of federal aid for child welfare.

Baldwin referred to a statement by Arthur Miller, regional attorney for the department, who said the state could lose $60 millions a year unless it wins it court battle with Contra Costa County over the right to restrict Aid to Needy Children payments.

Baldwin said the legalities revolve about the local county's right to withhold additional ANC payments to Mrs. Eula Henderson of Richmond on the basis that she refuses to reveal the father of her illegitimate child and refuses to take a lie detector test.

THE SUPERVISORS' appeal has also gone to California's U.S. Senators Thomas Kuchel and Clair Engle.

The action started when the State Welfare Board called a hearing, requiring Contra Costa County to show cause why it should withhold welfare funds, and Superior Judge Norman Gregg handed down a decision favoring the county's action.

The State Welfare Board then cancelled the hearing, prompting criticism of the action by Board Chairman Mel Nielsen.

District Attorney John Nejedly said Miller's claim is that the state agency has the final word, not the county or the courts, in determining whether a person qualifies for public assistance.

He said, "Miller repeats the labial logic of the Welfare State in threatening massive retaliation for the efforts of Contra Costa County to restore some measure of community respect for the Welfare Program.

"MILLER TAKES a position that should be known to every American and to every taxpayer —That the Welfare hierarchy is absolutely immune from control of its abuses by the courts.

"If Mr. Miller's position is accepted, we must submit to the proposition that the Welfare administration of this nation, administering over $3,676,990,000 of federal and state funds, is absolutely immune from judicial review.

"That to the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches of our government we must now add the independent Administration of Welfare—free of all checks or balances, adopting its own rules, bound only by its own decisions and enforcing its mandates by refusal to return to the states funds which the state and its taxpayers first provide, unless the states passively accept even its most arbitrary and unrealistic decisions.

"Miller may be advised that the theat of federal coercion adds nothing but another agency this county must fight.

"First, the county is threatened with the loss of $4,000,000. That figure now becomes a $60,000,000 loss to the state. The principle remains the same.

WE MUST either stand up to the issue of pressure versus principle or accept the cascade of corruption that any other alternative will establish.

"If Miller can make his proposition of immunity from judicial review endure, we will have then become irrevocably dedicated to abject submission to an autonomous administrative agency determined upon erecting an amoral dynasty of Welfare dependency without responsibility."

Shorter Parking Spaces Requested

At a meeting of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce, James Lucas moved that nine-foot parking spaces in Orinda's business area be changed to eight-foot spaces to handle more cars. The chamber will ask the county to look into the matter.

Clarence Betz, chamber secretary, conducted the meeting in the absence of Robert Partridge, the president, who was ill.

Betz reported on a recent directors' meeting. The new directory has been mailed to everybody in the area, he said.

Correspondence from Mrs. Paul Pollazek was read, asking Orinda businessmen to keep the recently-planted trees in boxes watered. Betz plans to quote the letter in the chamber's newsletter to merchants.

It was noted felled trees in the Pine Grove area contain beetles which are causing damage to live trees. The chamber voted to write the Associated Investment Company, owner of property in the area, to request that the felled trees be removed.

Weather Cools

Rain, a tiny sprinkling of .02 inches fell Saturday, surprising residents, who were just beginning to feel relief from the intense heat of the past week. High of the weather week was 95 degrees with a cool low of 52 degrees on four nights.

Bids Opened On Flood Work

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday asked a recommendation from the County Flood Control Commission on award of a contract for flood control works on the Walnut Creek Channel between Willw Pass Road and Monument Road, southeast of Concord.

Ransome Company of Emeryville was low of 11 bidders at $75,980.

Trustees Approve School Budget

Tax Rate Raised 26 Cents By $200,000 Increase

A school budget nearly $200,000 higher than last year's, was approved by the Board of Trustees of the Orinda Union School District at a public hearing on Tuesday night.

The increased budget will necessitate a 26 cent increase per assessed valuation in the basic tax rate. The 1960-61 school budget will be $1,599,336 as compared to $1,400,000 for this year.

James Jentges, the district's assistant superintendent for business reported the increase in the budget was necessitated by the planned opening of the new intermediate school at Inland Valley, with the consequent increased cost for teachers, other personnel and supplies.

HE SAID the tax rate for the district will reach $2.39 per $100 assessed valuation, 26 cents higher than last year's rate, but 36 cents below the maximum rate of $2.75 approved by the district as its share of state money.

District authorities noted that district apportionments for student attendance and transportation will be affected by the Collier Bill and what money does not come from the state has to be made up out of local taxes.

SUPERINTENDENT Joseph L. Sheaff stated that the scheduled September opening of St. Mary's School in Orinda will not affect the school district financially.

However, it will relieve the enrollment pressure on the Orinda Public schools and may make it possible for additional students to be absorbed into the public schools in 1961-62 without a raise in the tax rate.

In other action Tuesday night the board voted to cooperate with the County Superintendent of Schools in providing one classroom for a pilot study of neurologically handicapped students.

Frank Bradford of the county superintendent's office, is in charge of the program. He said that this is the first time that such a study has been undertaken in Contra Costa County.

ONE CLASSROOM will be furnished by the Orinda District and the county will furnish the teacher.

The pilot study will determine if proper supervision and instruction can aid children who have suffered some brain damage. The program differs entirely from that planned for mentally retarded children, Bradford said.

Woman Criticizes Pets and Pals

A complaint to the Board of Supervisors of a Lafayette woman against Pets and Pals animal shelter was turned over to Arthur Seely of the county agricultural department and the county pound.

Mrs. Clayton Van Wagner, 1073 Miller Drive, said the shelter workers picked up her dog as a stray and had kept it without notifying her or the county. She was finally notified, she said, after two weeks, and was asked to pay $21.50 boarding charges.

When she argued with a worker, Betty Powell, about the charge, she was asked what she thought would be a fair price, and when she offered $10 it was accepted, and Miss Powell gave her a receipt.

SEELY SAID he had written to Mrs. D. A. Sargent, 6145 Estates Drive, Oakland, who is chairman of the board of directors for Pets and Pals.

He advised her the shelter may not hold stray animals without notifying his office of their presence since the county pound is the only authorized agency to handle stray animals.

He said Pets and Pals did not notify the pound of holding Mrs. Van Wagner's dog. He pointed out further, it makes no difference whether or not the animal is licensed.

All strays belong to someone and are therefore personal property. To remove a stray animal from a highway or other danger is commendable, he said, but the county pound is the proper agency and must be notified.

MRS. SARGENT has replied to Seely's letter, saying she will notify the pound of all dogs picked up by Pets and Pals in the near future. While this is satisfactory as far as it goes, Seely said, he will explain the order applies to "all stray animals."

Mrs. Van Wagner said her dog, a Beagle crossbreed, appeared to have had poor care during the two weeks at Pets and Pals.

"The dog was skin and bones," she said.

Pets and Pals is located at 3338 Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette, and is run by a board of directors who reside in Oakland and the local area.

Bambi Cox, a worker at the shelter along with Miss Powell, said they are not now picking up stray animals.

INDIVIDUALS bring animals to the shelter, she said, because they are moving or have other good reasons for giving them up. The shelter takes only animals which are easily placeable, she said.

Workers do not ask for fees for their services, she said, but donations are accepted. There is no set donation for services, Miss Cox declared. Persons give what they wish.

The shelter no longer takes cats, she added, unless they are extremely easy to place.

Pets and Pals is a non-profit organization, and well-equipped to care for the animals placed there, according to Miss Cox.

"But of course there is always something that can be improved," she finished.

Sleepy Hollow Pool Opens Two New Tennis Courts

Described as the "best tennis courts West of the Rockies," two courts were dedicated Saturday by the Sleepy Hollow Recreational Association.

Exhibition matches by the Saputo brothers, Leon and Mike, and by Frank Allen and Frank Gillespie followed a chuck wagon breakfast with chef Mel Nickerson smiling through the charcoal smoke.

SLEEPY HOLLOW is the first pool group in the area to widen its scope with tennis. Jeanette Fayram, Betty Chilton, Wally Riddell and "old pro" Frank Gillespie worked out operating rules for this new club activity.

Saturday culminated years of planning by club directors; an engineered earth moving project last fall and court building this summer by the nationally-known Malotte, Peterson, Grundy firm.

A sheltered valley was widened to permit north-south orientation, with a great oak tree at one end but unbroken sun on the courts. A steep hill to the north provides a natural bleacher slope for tournament view.

GODFREY GREGG, Mark Noble, Charles Gibbs, Bill Leonard, Jim Dupuis and Bob Dalton engaged in various stages of plan drawing, transit squinting and contract letting.

Bay Area tennis was represented at the occasion by the Tom Stows and the Richard Overstreets.

Alternate for Transit Station

Regarding the location of a rapid transit station north of Walnut Creek, officials say a site at Las Juntas Road, Pleasant Hill, has been mentioned with others as an alternate, although the Geary Road site is considered the best.

Bert LaVigne, Rapid Transit District engineer, said final determination will follow election approval of a bond issue and allocation of money for detailed studies.

Tax Charges Filed Against John Brumback

John C. Brumbach of 3827 Happy Valley Road, Lafayette, head of an Oakland electrical business and operator of a Pittsburg bus line, has been indicted for income tax evasion.

A federal grand jury's four court indictment accuses Brumback of tax evasion and also falsifying corporate records.

It says Brumback concealed $19,000 of the firm's 1955 gross income by preparing phony invoices.

It also says Brumback filed a false income tax return for the corporation, and evaded $8429 in personal income taxes and $5712 in corporate income taxes on the concealed funds.

Conviction could bring a $35,000 fine and 18 years in prison, maximum.

Orinda Library Has Art Display

Oils by Fran McBane are being shown at the Orinda Library during the first two weeks of August. The exhibit, sponsored by the Orinda Art Center, is Mrs. McBane's first local showing.

Mrs. McBane, in private life Mrs. R. D. McBane, is a resident of Sleepy Hollow and has been studying art for the past few years. She has studied with Martha Borge, Jose Ortig and Lyle Lund, all of whom have given her much encouragement.

Her canvasses have an original feeling and her style of painting is unique. "Springtime in Sleepy Hollow" and "Monte del Diablo" are both outstanding.

Experiment: Truckers Off to College

Truck drivers are going to college this summer. Object: to increase their skill and understanding of their job.

Instructor Rey Devereaux has been teaching 30 men daily for four weeks in a program sponsored by the California Trucking Association and the Teamsters Union.

They get 60 hours of classroom experience, including study of such textbooks as the State Vehicle Code, the Interstate Commerce Commission's safety regulations, the "Facts for Drivers" published by the American Trucking Association, and another book called "Defensive Driving Practices."

THEY ALSO get another 100 hours of field training, with additional instructors provided by the trucking firms.

Devereaux, who is taking a two-month leave from an Oakland safety couseling firm, said truck driver education unil now has been "hit or miss," but the tougher licensing system and good results from company in-training courses taught earlier have paved the way for the new instruction.

The course includes such subjects as safety, maintenance, inspection, accident prevention and of course, vehicle operation.

The significance of the course is indicated, Devereaux said by the fact that there are about a million trucks in the state, and 100,000 of them are the big "rigs" which are seen everywhere.

HE SAID truck drivers make a base pay averaging $6000 per year, and men with years of experience on good runs make up to $10,000 to $12,000 per year.

The second such course will begin at the college, Monday. The ocal experiment is being watched in other parts of the state.

EASY DOES IT! says Reynard Devereaux, instructor at Diablo Valley College's new course on truck driving, which includes 60 hours of classroom work and 100 hours of driver training. Anxious about his tail section is Robert Nelson of Walnut Creek.
—Sun photos by Bob Rush.

THE SCIENTIFIC phase includes this test of how long it takes for Nelson to get his foot from the gas to the brakes. The only other such course is given in North Carolina and has 4000 graduates, said Devereaux, at right.

Junior College Budget Requires Tax Increase

A $4,856,955 budget for 1960-61 was approved Monday night by the Contra Costa Junior College District.

The new budget, an increase of $725,052 over the past fiscal year, will require a 5.1 cent tax rate increase. This puts the rate per $100 assessed valuation at 41.7 cents as compared to the 1959-60 rate of 36.6 cents.

Superintendent Drummond J. McCunn said the big increase is caused by an extensive building program on the district's two campuses.

Slated for Diablo Valley College are construction of a $185,000 men's shower and locker room and a $567,000 life sciences building.

First Church Day Camp Called 'Successful Experiment'

TREES INSPIRE prayers for these children who participated in the Lafayette-Orinda Presbyterian Church's day camp, first of its kind in the area. It doesn't matter whether you sit in one, as Bobby Leibold of Orinda does, or under one, as Diane Hamilton, Lafayette; Miss Jeanne Christy, day camp counselor; and Jean Larson, Orinda, are doing. SMOKEY THE BEAR, in puppet form, was instrumental at the day camp. Children wrote notes to him with suggestions for things to do and stuffed them into his special hollow tree. Area Girl Scouts Thank Rotarians for Camp Help

In the setting of Twin Canyon Day Camp Senior Girl Scouts recently prepared and served a barbecue luncheon for Lafayette Rotarians Dr. John R. Moore, Jack Pedder, Marvin Turner, Jack Marchant and Ken Jensen.

In a small ceremony before lunch was served Brownie Scout Vickie Urdahl of Pleasant Hill introduced Mrs. Kenneth Hallstone, president of the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout council, who presented a certificate of appreciation to Dr. Moore, president of the Lafayette Rotary Club, and a statuette to Marchant, Lafayette contractor.

AFTER THE barbecued chicken, corn, tossed greens, French bread and homemade ice cream, the Rotarians were taken on a tour of the camp to see the new buildings, one with a fireplace, showers and other improvements for which the Rotary Club has been responsible.

"Penny" Glidden of Pleasant Hill proudly showed the first aid hut, and explained that as an advanced first aider she cares for all the minor accidents; mainly scratches and bee stings, but Brownies or Girl Scouts attending the camp are returned home immediately if they are ill.

Hostesses were Senior Scouts Linda Kaufman, Troop 168, Lafayette; Sandia Jones Troop 128, Orinda; Judy Frankum, Troop 187 Pleasant Hill; Nyda Henry, Troop 210 Danville; and Sue Ainsworth, Troop 168 Lafayette. Miss Dorothy Fellows, chairman of Twin Canyon, assisted by Brownie Leader Mrs. Mary Burkdon, guided the seniors in the luncheon preparations.

OTHER GUESTS included Miss Mabel Bunneke, executive director of DVAGS Council; "Liz" Hallum of Danville, director of Twin Canyon Day Camp; "Mert" Andrews, assistant camp director; Kay Marshall, public relations chairman for the council, accompanied by Girl Scout daughter Pam; and Bobby Jensen, son of Ken.

The luncheon was a small token of the gratefulness felt by the council for all the work hours, materials and money which the Lafayette Rotary has given for improvement of Twin Canyon Day Camp, which is enjoyed all summer by hundreds of Brownies and Girl Scouts, Mrs. Marshall said.

The Diablo Valley Area Girl Scout Council shares in United Crusade Funds which covers operating expense but buildings and improvements are financed by the sale of Girl Scout Cookies, calendars and groups like the Rotrians.

Blaise Named to New Post With Mason-McDuffie

Charles A. Blaise, an 11-year resident of Lafayette, is the newly promoted sales manager of the Lafayette real estate sales office for the Mason-McDuffie Company.

Blaise has been active in the real estate business in the Bay Area for the past 14 years, serving as a member of both the Oakland and Contra Costa County Realty Boards. He majored in business economics and pre-law at the University of California, graduating in 1938.

Blaise, his wife Norma and their two children, Sharlane and Kenneth, reside at 3179 Somerset Drive in Burton Valley.

Owners To Pay Road Costs on Brown Avenue

Twenty-eight property owners on Upper Brown Avenue, a steep, winding private road in Lafayette, will share the costs of maintaining the road, Superior Judge Wikefield Taylor has ordered.

A. J. Johnson, Walnut Creek real estate broker, was appointed by Judge Taylor to develop a formula, based on assessed valuation of individual properties, for charging owners maintenance costs.

Johnson was appointed by the court after Paul A. Johanson, 1084 Brown Avenue, president of the Sunny Oaks Homes Association, reported association members sought allocation of road costs on the basis of usage.

Johnson said the road benefits each property owner by increasing land value, even though the owner may make little use of it.

Johnson's plan calls for property owners to pay a pro-rata share of each repair contract. Judge Taylor ordered the homes association to collect and disburse the funds for the maintenance projects.

Lafayette Man On Training Duty

Ray A. Bunten, electrician's mate first class, 3357 Betty Lane, Lafayette, is one of five outstanding naval reservists from northern California who will train during August with ships of the Seventh Fleet in the western Pacific.

The men will leave Sunday by plane for almost four weeks with the fleet. They will return to San Francisco Sept. 1.

Presbyterians Hold First County Church Day Camp

The Lafayette-Orinda Presbyterian Church held the first church day camp in Contra Costa County, on the past two weekends at Twin Canyon camp, the Girl Scout day camp site.

The program theme was "God at Work in His World," and hours were from 3 to 9 p.m. so that fathers could help.

Twenty-four boys and girls going into fourth and fifth grades made many discoveries through hikes and treasure hunts with a compass, and recorded their "finds" with blueprints or plaster casts.

Treasures found on the hikes ranged from a snakeskin to the skeleton of a small animal—"a raccoon, we think," the children said.

COOKING an entire dinner in a piece of aluminum foil, learning to saw wood "in tandem," playing active games in an atmosphere of Christian fellowship were activities enthusiastically received.

Smokey the Bear, in the form of a puppet with felt hat and shovel, provided a novel and effective form of communication between children and adults.

Children wrote notes for program and stuffed them into Smokey's special hollow tree. Smokey, with the assistance of Jeanne Christy, day camp director, then read the notes at the evening gatherings.

He also reminded everyone of necessary fire precautions.

WITH THE guidance and advice of Ben Mack, Christian education director, the camp was manned by the following counselors who volunteered for this experiment in Christian education:

Mrs. Frank Leibold, Newton Gillihan, Mrs. Harry Larsen, Don Rogers, Bob Callan, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis, Mrs. Ralph Hickcox and Miss Christy.

Nurses who took turns manning the infirmary were Mesdames Heinz Rath, M. W. Kimball and Fred Heitman. Dr. John R. Moore and Bill Eldridge, chairman of the Christian education department, were on call for emergencies.

The camp was conducted by the camping committee, with Bob Werum as chairman, to see how best to develop an outdor program and a wilderness park adjacent to the church.

IT WAS conceived as a program of action out of doors to supplement the regular Sunday school program. Children of the fourth and fifth grades were selected for the pilot study because younger children may attend daily church school, and older children may go to established church camps at Mt. Herman and Catalina in the summer.

Was the experiment successful? Among special messages that Smokey received on the last day was one that said, "We hope we can come back next year."

Miss Christy said the camp committee plans to develop a woodsy area near the church in time for next year's day camp.

Music Teacher Goes To Oregon Meeting

Cubs of Pack 238 Hold Jamboree

Cub Pack 238 of Lafayette was the first in the Meridian District to receive the Eisenhower Streamer. It was presented to them by Henry Blaylock of the Mt. Diablo Council at their jamboree, held recently at Redwood Regional Park. Robert K. Waters, submaster, was in charge of the jamboree.

Charter presentation was made to Robert L. Pierson, president of the Glenside Improvement Association which sponsors the pack.

STEVE OLIVER and William Leonard received bobcat pins and became new members of the Cubs.

The 50th anniversary achievement award went to the following boys: Ricky Hilson, Kent Johnson, David Mathis, David Prichard, Norman Smith, Tim Dawson, Larry Gelwix, Dick Kiefer, David Ligon and Scott McKay.

Also, John Osborne, Allen Vinson, Jeffrey Jones, Tom DuFossee, Scott Anderson, Jamie Dacus, Jerry Jacobsen, Dana Taylor, Ted Vincent, Steve Anderson, John Barneson, Steve Spragens and Leslie Waldman.

ALSO, Harry Sommer, Michael Caldwell, Billy Anderson, David Lazarus, Jeff Lewis, Joel McDonald, Kenneth Waters, Chris Nelson, Keith Franck, Mark Schneider, Keith Wardhaugh, Charles Waldman, Richard Walton, Hayward Kaiser, John Newby, Dick Waddell, Barry Poust, Scott Youngman, Brad Wallin, Berk Tarleton, Ricky Huer, Douglas Raggon, William Rogers, Bruce Graf and Edward Lewis.

Boys who attended the jamboree are also entitled to wear the Cub Scout jamboree patch, depicting 50 years of scouting.

Otto Graf and J. B. McDonald made the picnic arrangements.

County Planners Will Meet With Moraga Citizens

The County Planning Commission will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. with a committee studying the proposed Moraga master plan.

Some members of the committee are opposed to setting aside 180 acres in the plan for controlled manufacturing, Thomas Heaton, county planning director, said.

The study group has indicated it would accept a central business district, but would not approve scattered shopping centers and multiple dwellings, Heaton added.

The Moraga master plan has been under study for two years, and has been adopted by the planning commission, but the board of supervisors has withheld action owing to strong opposition from the Moraga Community Club.

Svensson Tells Plans for Tennis Play Instruction

Tennis instruction under the tutelage of Floyd Svensson is currently available on the refurbished courts of the Lafayette School.

Svensson, an Orindan and a protege of Berkeley's net pro Tom Stow, will teach the same tennis methods as the man who has produced many a world champ from the courts of the Berkeley Tennis Club.

Svensson, tennis coach of the Diablo Valley College, will teach under the supervision of Stow.

Classes are held daily, 8:30 through noon, Monday through Saturday and afternoon classes continuing into fall, will be arranged on request. The lessons are given in groups of four, ranging from beginner through advanced and adults. For further information, contact Svensson at CL 4-0192.

Moraga School District Tax Rate To Rise 16 Cents

A budget of $179,684, an increase of $60,338 over the past year, has been adopted for the 1960-61 fiscal year by the Moraga School District governing board.

This will mean an increase of 16 cents in the tax rate, bringing it to $2.06 per $100 of assessed valuation.

An estimated 50 per cent increase in enrollment and additional teachers' salaries are reasons for the increased budget. The average daily attendance for last year was 301 students.

The district has purchased a 10-acre site off Camino Pablo in the Orchard Dell tract from Utah Construction and Mining Company. The site development has been completed, and construction of the buildings will start in the fall.

The new construction will consist of eight classrooms, administration and library. The complete plans call for 16 classrooms, two kindergartens, administration, library and multi-purpose room with a capacity of 638 students.

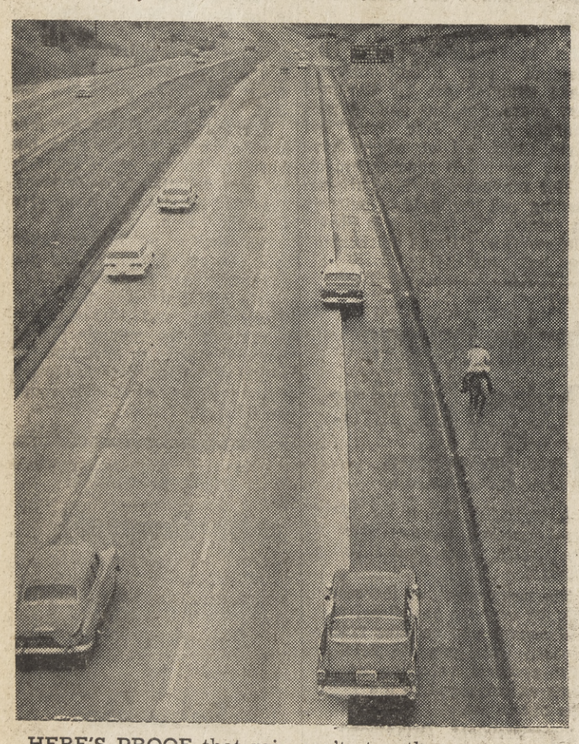
Dry-Henich Is Steel Supervisor

A Lafayette man has been given a management promotion at U. S. Steel's Pittsburg Works.

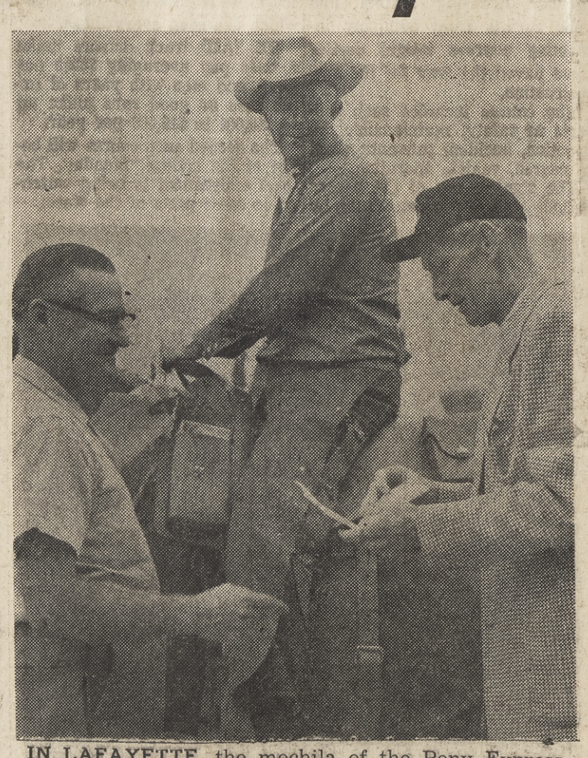
He is John Dry-Henich of 3885 Las Arabis, who was named general supervisor of industrial engineering for open hearths and rod mills, according to an announcement by Donald W. Lasell, general superintendent of the Columbia-Geneva Division plant.

Dry-Henich has been supervisor of incentives since 1956. He first joined U. S. Steel at Pittsburg Works in 1949.

100 Years Later—Pony Express Riders Are Honored



HERE'S PROOF that rain can't stop the progress of the United States mail! As autos speed along this modern freeway between Walnut Creek and Lafayette in the pouring rain Saturday morning, the reenactment of the Pony Express route continued. Lonesome George, the Pony Express rider in the person of Edwin Riddell (at right), had to deliver the mochila on schedule to the Lafayette Post Office as the 100th birthday of the Pony Express was celebrated.



IN LAFAYETTE, the mochila of the Pony Express Re-Run from Sacramento to San Francisco was received Saturday morning by Tom Brooks (left), Lafayette's superintendent of mails, and Chuck Johnston (right), secretary of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce. The rider was Edwin Riddell of Carmel Valley. The Sacramento-San Francisco portion of the reenactment was sponsored by the California State Horseman's Association.

PONY EXPRESS rider Larry Gomez of Lafayette delivered the souvenir mochila to Orinda Saturday morning, where it was received by Orinda Postmaster Laura Mallary (left) and Clarence Betz, secretary of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce. Saturday's events included the delivering of the mail from Martinez to San Francisco and a parade in the Bay City in honor of the Pony Express' 100th birthday.

PRESENT-DAY Pony Express riders might have their Indian difficulties, just as their 19th century counterparts did. This was proven Saturday when Bill McElhinney of Moraga (right), who carried the mochila from Ivy Drive on the Orinda-Moraga line to the Moraga Post Office, arrived with arrows in his head. Here, McElhinney complains of his misfortune to Sheriff Walter Young. —Photos by Rod Lomas.

School District Estimates 6-Cent Drop in Tax Rate

Acalanes High School District trustees this week officially adopted the District's $3,183,900 budget for the 1960-61 school year. District officials estimate that the newly adopted budget will mean a drop in the tax rate of approximately six cents under last year. The 1960-61 rate will be an estimated $1.74 opposed to last year's rate of $1.804.

Trustees stated that the drop in the rate is due primarily to an increase in the district's assessed valuation. Superintendent Neil M. Parsons explained that contrary to what usually happens the assessed valuation increased faster than the rise in enrollment.

TRUSTEES pointed out that although the district could still charge the maximum rate for 1961-61, they intend to drop the rate and keep secondary school costs at a reasonable minimum it takes to operate efficiently.

In light of the increase in the district's assessed valuation, trustees agreed that it will not be necessary for the district to be forced into the state aid building program in the immediate future.

Board members emphasized, however, that a bond election will be necessary "within the year," since the bonds authorized for secondary school construction in 1955 will have been sold this year.

"A new bond authorization will be necessary in the near future if an orderly and necessary progression of secondary school construction is to continue to meet the enrollment increases just ahead. Classrooms will be needed to handle the 60 per cent enrollment increase between the 1959-60 school year just completed and 1964," trustees explained.

IN CONNECTION with the district's future building program and the board's intent to build in time to relieve the enrollment pressure on existing high schools, Acalanes District trustees discussed and approved preliminary site use plans for a fifth high school scheduled for construction in the Rheem area. The proposed bond election among other facilities would authorize construction funds for the Rheem high school and provide money for the completion of Del Valle High which now serves the Walnut Creek-Lafayette area.

In reviewing the past financial picture of the Acalanes District, Superintendent Neil Parsons reported a recent study released by the State Controller's office which lists the average California per pupil costs for high school students in 1958-59 at $533. Acalanes District per pupil average costs for that same period were $475, well under the reported state average, Parsons observed. Figures are not yet available on the 1959-60 school year.

PARSONS also reported that the average daily pupil attendance for 1959-60 was 4056, as compared with 3563 for 1958-59, an approximate increased enrollment of 500 students.

Trustees approved a request by Dr. Glenn Seaborg of the University of California that Acalanes science instructor Margaret Nicholson be granted a half-day during the coming school term to work at the University on a new high school chemistry text.

Here's a Thought...

Will Our Era Be Known As The Age of Outdoor Living?

By CONNIE PIKE

In the history books our era will go down as the "outdoor living" era. The time when people opened up their walls of glass to bring the outdoors in.

And come in it does, eagerly.

You've seen old houses where moss was growing in the cracks and mice scurried about through the dust? That was a result of letting the outdoors come in.

Time was, people wanted to keep the outdoors where it belongs. They built solid houses with walls and roofs so that dust and weeds, as well as more active living things, had to stop at the door.

THE RESULT was a nice compact house, with little windows to let in some light. Inside they kept things to make themselves comfortable. Stoves and tables and beds.

You felt cozy inside, and safe from mosquitoes and lizards and other prowling things.

Then one day, some creative architect crept out of his shell. "Enough of these houses that look like houses," he said. "Let us make houses functional."

The roof, sloped to shed rain and snow, became flat-topped. Solid wood and brick walls gave way to glass, and privacy yielded to windows with a "living" picture. You were supposed to plant exotic plants to create the picture.

THE ARCHITECTS did make one real improvement. They brought the plumbing inside. But they didn't stop with that. They didn't stop until we had gardens coming through the floor and barbecue pits in the family room.

With all these functional things moved into the house, it became necessary to move something out. The living room furniture was moved to the patio, and the dining room became a picnic table with benches.

And now the thing to have is an electric rotisserie outdoors.

We've reached the point where most families could pull down their walls and be fully equipped to live in the patio. Perhaps houses have served their purpose and will fall more and more into disuse. We've become saturated with security.

SOON WE MAY spend our lives in the open, with but a flimsy tent to lend a bit of shelter in heavy rains.

It would be easy to let the outdoors in, in a tent. Slide back the tent flap and there you'd be—outdoors.

Housekeeping wouldn't be the thing it is now. A quick brush with a pine branch, roll up the beds and you're through. There would be more time to work in the garden. Exotic plants aren't easy to keep alive.

Such a paradise couldn't last long, though. There would still be architects. The first thing you know, one of them would stand thoughtfully before his tent. "He'd slap his knee and whoop, "I've got it What we need in this tent is a floor."

HE'D GET BUSY and put in a floor. His wife would go downtown and buy some wax. Later he would erect some permanent walls, with a little window to let in light. His wife would make frilly curtains to brighten things up.

Soon he'd dream up some simple wooden furniture.

The neighbors would catch on, and what with one thing and another, houses would become more and more elaborate. When the ultimate in indoor comfort had been attained, somebody would come along and start building flat tops again.

We shouldn't allow ourselves to be drawn into this indoor-outdoor pattern. You can see what the consequences could be.

WE SHOULD STAND fast and refuse to allow our windows to become sliding glass walls.

And we will, just as soon as we go connect the new outdoor electric rotisserie and turn on the patio flodlights.

The neighbors are coming for dinner, and we wouldn't want them to catch us living inside our house.

She Powders Her Nose; He Takes Powder

While she was powdering her nose, her husband took a powder.

This was the story told to Walnut Creek police by a 35 year-old woman who had been stopped from begging for alms on North Main Street, recently.

She said she and her husband were traveling from Maine, bound for Los Angeles, and the last time she saw him was in Oregon when she went into a service station restroom, and assumed he was similarly employed.

Their coast-to-coast travels had taken three years.

The woman was put aboard a bus for San Francisco.

Area Republicans Plan Dinner Meet

Candidates for state and national offices will be guests of honor at a potluck supper meeting to be held by the Diablo Valley Republican Assembly at 6:30 p.m. next Friday.

The meeting will be held at the home of Don Campbell, 1421 Tichenor Court, Lafayette.

The candidates who will attend are King Parker Jr., who is the Republican nominee for the State Senate; George Krueger, the Assembly candidate; and John Baldwin, Sixth District Congressman.

MIDWEEK HOLY Communion will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Cantebury Chapel, 682 Michael Lane.

Couples of all ages from both St. Anselm's and St. Paul's Episcopal church in Walnut Creek are invited to attend this party.

Missionary To Speak on Amazon

The Valley Church of Moraga, a new church which meets in members' homes, is sponsoring a series of three messages at Miramonte High School on Friday evenings at 7:45 p.m.

Harold Wildish, internationally-known evangelist and Bible expositor from the West Indies, will speak tonight on "Life Among the Savage Redmen of the Amazon."

NEXT FRIDAY his subject will be "A Jamaican Looks With Candor at His Northern Neighbors," and the concluding week, Aug. 19, he will discuss "Bible Prophecy and the World Today."

Mr. Wildish was born in England and began his missionary work among the aborigines of the Amazon. After eight years he became a resident of Jamaica, continuing non-denominational evangelistic campaigns both locally and abroad.

The Valley Church is a non-denominational, Bible - oriented Christian church.

ALTHOUGH the members have been meeting in a private home, officials anticipate the time when permanent quarters will be established.

Anyone desiring further information may call DR 6-5039.

The U.S. imported 668,000 foreign-built automobiles last year, including 210,500 from England and 205,800 from Germany, reports the California State Automobile Association.

Something More for the Boys . . .

Meanwhile, back at camp, Wallace Alexander that is, & our last week's thesis on how Scouting makes Men out of Boys, Boys out of Men & baseball casualties out of Mothers . . .

As we were saying, when the column got cut, Kit & Joe Newman were also among the wknd. parents visiting their son Joe . . . The Ted Taylors came up in their sporty convertible to see young Ted, driving up Sat. for a short visit & then the long drive home to get ANOTHER child OFF to camp.

SUNDAY BEFORE NOON departure, we chatted w/Dr. Darrell Browning who was busy making films of the "Pug Ugly" parade . . . He paused to light up a modern Danish pipe & together w/his wife recounted for us a few bright spots of their recent European travels which took 2 mos. . . . The Brownings, parents of Scout Lou, were in Austria, Switzerland, Germany, London & Paris. . . . From Rotterdam they flew into Brussels the only TWO passengers aboard a 12-passenger helicopter that landed them in the city francaise on Liberation Day, w/quelle excitement!

An ardent antique firearms collector (Dr. Browning's collection currently on view at the Orinda Library), he added a few more to his gun assortment while touring the continent.

MOST OF THE PARENTS stayed on for the noon Turkey Dinner, but we took the high road & the hot road home, the thermometer hitting 107 in the Sac. Valley almost overwhelming us! As every other traveler must feel, however brief or long the journey, there is absolutely No Place Like Home—especially in Orinda!

WITH THE LITTLE LEAGUE OVER, undoubtedly everybody's finally got OFF on their vacations . . . but the baseball mitts are still around OUR house. . . . You can't sit down on the sofa without falling over the gear. . . . We trip over the bats flung on the floor, the mitt & ball come to breakfast, lunch & dinner till we want to scream, SCREAM, "Get that thing OUT of here" & now it's baseball trading cards & the Sporting Green strewn all over the house. Wonderful game, that Baseball, but it's turned some of our little men into Jr. Frankensteins, as well as Babe Ruths!

IN FACT, our youngest son is useless for some of his chores. His right hand is alright, but there's a piece of four-finger leather growing from his lefty!

HERE'S THE PITCH . . . We'd like to write up ALL the games but since that is an impossibility, here's Looking 'em over on our last game, a championship in the Peanut League w/the Rockets vs. the Hawks!

We're 'way Out in Left Field . . .

At the Del Rey Field, 6:30 we arrived w/our three in tow, two of them to give moral support to their youngest brother Bill . . . It was the last time (till next year) that we'd have to suffer indigestion for when you're not used to dining before 7, a 5 o'clock meal sits inside of you like a big lump of linen for the laundry!

A greeting to the Ernest Fernstens whose boy Hank played for the Hawks . . . Ernest & Doris, had to that point, lived a split-second schedule of fishing, cattle ranching & attending two games wkly. (sometimes FOUR) for their young hardwood pros.

Joe & Fran Dirickx were on hand, Fran bare-shouldered in a summer sundress & sitting engagingly on the fender of a station wagon, their young dghtr. along to cheer for Joe Jr. . . . who played Centerfield . . . A bit of Madison Ave. walked up, that being Y & R's Bob Hendrickson, still in his grey flannel & sporty banded straw, THIS, said he, he "couldn't miss," having to report by long-distance call to his son, the Hawk team's John Hendrickson who was vacationing in Ridgewood, N. J. w/his mother Bee . . . After a chat & a chide from Elsie E. Keresey about being in "enemy territory," we moved over to sit w/the parents on our side, the "Rocket-eers" —

WE SHARED A CHAIR w/ Zenny Roberts, watched Billie Bowles cheer like a real regular baseball fan, held our breath while a crowd gathered around Our Bill who collided w/another boy (both going for a fly ball) but no tears, no fuss, hooray for us & better a black eye from a ball game than from a fight, we always say!

OUT IN FIELD — For the Hawks: Brady Keresy, Dave Henry, alternating as pitchers & what a wind-up! Fathers Kerry Keresey & Art Henry, two of the bright-capped coaches. The Depper Twins, being Steve & Stu, being mirror twins, even confused the coaches, their father Robert Depper umipring . . . A little pep talk from Hawks' coach Bob Williams . . . Bruce Paltenghi, Greg Merrill, Ron Klemmendson, Brett Carey more of those running their legs off & David Schubb, Mark Lipovac, Tom Hurst, Dick Williams more of the team who played the exciting game.

NOW BACK TO OUR BOYS, The Rockets . . . Catcher Tommy Lasater behind home plate (his father Bill Lasater we used to watch run the football fields back in the Good Old Days) . . . Marie Lasater who thoughtfully brought lemonade for post-game treats, arrived o nthe scene in a saturated state, the sugary liquid having tipped over in the car just as she pulled into the playground. She dashed home for a quick change!

WHAT A GAME they played! Both teams who had won 9 games, lost one, tied one . . . Bill Leonard's younger brothers were there to holler for him but Dad was off in Martinez (as pres. of the Sleepy Hollow Ass'n. bucking that road re-route) regrettably . . . Bill Wignall, Pitcher John Roberts throwing a fast curve, Randy Russell, Paul McKinnon, Gordy Massie whose father served as Coach, ditto Bill Robinson whose Senior put in plenty of time too on the diamonds in the dough! Doug Smith, David Williams, Brian Cantrill, John Gilliam, David Kruse, Steve Bowles & Tim Mueller & My Boy Bill more w/plenty of team work, good sportsmanship & spirit instilled by Coach Ned Smtih, Stan Massie, Bill Robinson & Bob Bowles . . . They gave us the axe w/a final score of 6-4 but after a spirited cheer w/hats tossed in the air, a serving of Shasta sodas and gooey cupcakes took the edge off those extra two runs!

For Parents Of The Month (July gone-by), we nominate Billie & Bob Bowles who took our whole crew home for an impromptu splash & swim in their pool & the hit of the evening, a game of electric Pool. (We could hardly TEAR the kids away, could we Mary Lou Williams? Et Tu, Cantrills? (I promised not to mention THEIR name for MONTHS!)

MORE PARENT Merit Badges to Dad Didickx for it was Joe who thoughtfully took a picture of the Hawks Team & presented each boy w/a snapshot of same . . . Father Bill Moore made personally-engraved wooden plaques for each boy & Rollerland-Man Mr. Frank Kastner rolled out the red carpet at his skating rink for the boys & their dads to celebrate the victory the following Mon. nite . . . THE CLAN Keresey did the same w/a wing-ding of a Swimming Party the previous Sunday at their Orchard Rd. home & w/all that excitement, those Hawks are probably STILL soaring high. The Kereseys, by the way, are languishing at Lake Tahoe these days where, we presume, they are lingering over their coffee w/unrushed meals & never mind the clock!

CORRECTION: As my boy Chip said after reading the Scout Camp write-up, "Mother, you sure got things mixed up!" . . . For one, neither Howard Gravelle or his parents were at Camp. My daughter who has had her reporter's wings temporarily taken away, said it was a boy who LOOKED like Howard & that his family had come IN from Reno! We should lose our star reporter badge on that one, too!

Some Things to Crow About!

Johnnie Davison, son of the Jim Davisons, entered a Hole-In-One Contest in Oakland & came out 2nd place, beating out 6998 other people . . . Johnny-One-Hole missed FIRST prize by a matter of a few inches having come within a few feet of first winners.

KUDOS & A LOVING CUP to Lynne Abbes, 11-yr. old tennis star who has taken all those national net championships after only 2 yrs. of instruction under the country Club's Kevin Merrick.

A GOOD RACKET . . . is the agile one that Floyd Svensson swings. He, the Diablo Valley College Tennis Coach, teaches the same method as Pro Stow of the Berkeley Tennis Club, another net man who has turned out a good share of champs. Floyd is conducting tennis classes daily on the refurbished courts of the Lafayette School . . . Anyone for Tennis? Beginners through Adult & Advanced, call Floyd at CL 4-0192.

COULDN'T HAPPEN to a Nicer Guy — or a Smarter Lawyer. We mean the appointment of Law professor Frank Newman of Acacia Dr., to dean of the U. of C. law school at Berk., . . . We called to congratulate Fran & Frank but talked to another proud family member, Frank's mother . . . Frank & Fran & children are summering at their Echo Lake cottage.

"Red" Kinney of the Country Club Barber Shop has brought World-championship honors to our own backyard . . . Sponsored by the CCBS, "Red" & his wife traveled to Rover Rogue River, Oregon for the 8th annual Nat'l Rooster Crowing contest to be on hand when the Shop's official entry, a smallish rooster "Jerome" Dennie's Delight came out of his dark "lock-up" to crow his way to the World Championship w/67 Cockadoodledoos . . . The gold cup award roosts on the shelves at the barbershop & to sum up the spending of het prize money (which was used for a celebrative party) — From New crow to Old Crow! That is all.

Contra Costa County Fair Honors Centennial Year Through Sunday

In an atmosphere of the "Wild West," Contra Costa's County Fair this week is celebrating its centennial anniversary at the Antioch Fairgrounds.

Final days are today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Record crowds of fairgoers are expected.

AND RECORD numbers of Contra Costans have entered more than 3000 exhibits—prime examples of agriculture, livestock, home economics, art and industry—in competition for blue ribbons and more than $38,000 offered in cash premiums.

Exhibits and displays will be housed in spacious, newly-completed buildings, surrounded by colorful outdoor gardens.

Entertainment, contests, shows and the gay carnival midway will vie for the fairgoers' attention.

Scores of the west's top-ranking cowboy stars are competing for more than $7000 in prize money, in six action-packed performances at the grandstand arena, the last three days at 8 p.m. and tomorrow and Sunday afternoons at 2:30 p.m.

COMPETITORS will include the three current leaders of statewide all-around cowboy ranking, Ron Bigon of Santa Rosa, Dick Luke of Tahoe Valley and Don Flanigan of Concord, as well as last year's top money winners at Antioch, Frank Santos of Davis and Bob Woolery of Cottonwood.

As an innovation this year, the rodeo action will be combined in a grandstand show which also will feature horse show events and variety and aerial acts.

Outstanding horses from throughout the state will be on hand, hunters and jumpers competing on arena courses, stock and trail horses being put through their paces.

Featured in the show portion will be "The Daltons" in daring trapeze and swaypole stunts on a 75-foot tower, and Len Gray's trained chimps, bears, dogs and horses.

A SPECTACULAR, two-hour parade from downtown Antioch to the Fairgrounds grandstand will highlight the Sunday schedule, starting at 12:30 p.m.

Scores of floats, bands, marching units, beauty queens and horsemen will take part.

Presiding over the parade will be the newly-crowned "Miss Contra Costa," chosen Wednesday night in the annual pageant.

Among outstanding parade units will be the 12th Naval District band, Sacramento, San Joaquin and Alameda County Sheriff's posses, Martinez and Pittsburg municipal bands, Valley Motor Lines and Berkeley Football Festival floats, Richmond Hawks drum corps, municipal floats, and dozens more.

Dinsmore to Open Auto Dealership

Dinsmore Motors, Inc., will open September 1 at 2019 North Main Street, Walnut Creek, with the Triumph-Borgward-Daimler dealership.

Owner Frank Dinsmore and Manager Duane Rice, both bachelors, plan an open house event.

Dinsmore is a graduate of Stanford University, while Rice was formerly sales manager for a Palo Alto sportscar dealership.

Rice won first place at Pebble Beach one year in a Triumph.

Both are sports car fans. Dinsmore is a member of the Stanford Sports Car Club, and Rice of the Sports Car Club of America.

Their service department will specialize in sports cars and will have a large stock of parts.

Orinda Man Speaks

Howard H. Jewell, Orinda chief of the Consumer Frauds Division of the attorney general's office, spoke at a meeting Monday of the program advisory committee to the consumer counsel.

The meeting was held in the State Building, 525 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Jewel discussed how the Consumer Frauds Division works with and supplements the consumer counsel.

Construction on Masonic Temple Gets Under Way

Construction is going ahead "full steam" on the Orinda Masonic Temple to assure its readiness for occupancy this fall.

The temple is being built for and by the Orinda Masonic Lodge, No. 704, but will be available to various service organizations as a meeting place.

The contemporary structure is being built on a one-acre site on Altarinda Drive, immediately adjacent to the recently- completed Pacific Telephone Company building.

The temple will offer off-street parking facilities. Its 7000 square foot interior will feature a 50 by 40 foot banquet hall which will accommodate several hundred people. Also included will be a 50 by 40 foot lodge room, and a modern kitchen with every convenience.

Members and guests at the recent ground-breaking ceremonies included:

Laurie Neilson, Lee Center; Everett Ham; Harold J. Smith; Blaine M. DeLeshe; Al Johnson, Masonic district inspector; Clark Rucker; Supervisor Mel Nielsen; George Chase; George N. Jensen; And R. E. Wadsworth; Arthur Stiefvater; Architect Mayne Littlejohn; Harold Anderson; Dr. Waino Laitinen; Joe Conley; Ed Slusser, master of the Orinda Lodge; Victor Kingston, president of the Orinda Association; and Earl Cappel.

Summer School Students Have A Week of Freedom

By ENID HENNESSY

Jonathan Jensen entertained a wailin' crowd at his house Friday night. Pete Read and Sue Cox, Bill Carroll and Sheri Krochi, and Dick Stark and Nancy Gosch were among the couples there.

Among the several unfortunate "goofs" of the crowd was Don White's oversleeping and forgetting to pick up his date. Everyone had a R-E-A-L good time. Incidentally, Bill Carroll, what was it that you were so proud of behind the bush?

This week has been one glorious week of freedom for the summer school set since school let out Friday. All the students are just learning what it's like to have a swell summer without having to worry about absence slips, excuses, the tardy bell.

Wednesday night was the scene of a big swim party at Ric Bowles. Ric Merriam and Nancy Englehart, Tom Gaffney and Karen Rigor, and Nancy Henry and Gary Holtwick were there to swim, dance and eat.

Brad Olsen, Frank Feldman, Bob Merriam and Charlie Blue were among the 10 boys shanghaied by 10 girls Sunday morning at 4 a.m. Pat Flint, Jo Wallace, Sue Henry and Kathie Calhoun, plus six other girls, planned and plotted against the doomed boys and decided to spend the night at Suzie Lahti's, then take three cars, wake the boys up at that hour and take them out for breakfast.

Charlie Blue didn't like the idea when the girls came to wake him up so he crawled under the bed. Suzie Lahti was taking pictures of the boys when they woke up, so it should be amusing to see them when they're developed.

Bill Rahmeyer and Jane Hennessy, Stan Silva and Sally Paul, and Danny VanAllen and Pat Rahmeyer spent the weekend up at Lake Alpine last week with Mr. Rahmeyer playing the role of chaperone. They left late Friday night and took their sleeping bags with them. After having a ball, swimming, boating and cooking out, they returned Sunday night all set to try it again sometime.

Seniors seem to be quite pleased with their senior supplements, which is pleasing to all the staff that worked on it. By now they have all received their copies. Just in case someone didn't receive one, however, please contact me and I will see that you get one.

Squire Fridell was here in Orinda last weekend to see his parents and Sue Henry. He left Sunday to go back to Alder Point where he has been kept quite busy fighting fires.

Vicki Sexson, Holly Borden, the Guerin twins, Cherie Sharp and about 10 others migrated from the Orinda Country Club pool down to Carroll Country Club to see their ex-lifeguard, Orville Smith. They were surprised when they turned the juke box on full blast that there was nobody making them turn it down, and they were further surprised to learn that you could take more than one bounce on the diving board before going in.

Big News—Milt Blake and Gail Dishong have decided to enlist in the Navy. They plan to leave for training at the end of August.

Danville Safeway Store Will Open Wednesday

The new Danville Safeway Store will open Wednesday morning at Hartz Avenue and Highway 21.

A ribbon cutting ceremony at 9:30 a.m. will include Mel Nielsen, County Board of Supervisors chairman, and Mel Whalin, president of the San Ramon Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Demonstrations of popular food items will be given in the building, which combines old-century exterior and the ultra-modern interior.

THE NEW store will have a staff of 35 employees with almost a quarter million dollar payroll, Manager Frank Perry announced.

Supervising staff includes James Bible, assistant manager; Donald Taylor, produce department manager, and Anthony Conda, meat department manager.

"Most of the members of my staff are experienced Safeway employees who were selected to work in this store because of their outstanding service and courtesy to customers," Perry said.

"A few are newly hired residents of this area who have been given concentrated training to handle their assignments," he added.

BIBLE STARTED his career with Safeway in 1954 as a food clerk in San Francisco. Promoted to assistant manager in 1958 he has served in that capacity in stores in Concord and Lafayette.

He and his wife, Betty, reside in Concord with their daughter. Bible served with the U.S. Army from 1951 to 1953.

Conda, who will manage the meat department, started with Safeway in 1946 as a meat cutter in Berkeley. Since 1950 he has managed the meat departments of various stores in that city. Conda and his wife, Dorothy, and daughter live in Orinda.

Produce Department Manager Taylor started with Safeway in 1955 as a food clerk in Walnut Creek. He has since managed produce departments in Oakland and Walnut Creek.

TAYLOR and his wife, Edith, reside in Walnut Creek with their two daughters.

Trailriders Build New Clubhouse

Fifteen horse clubs have been invited to visit the Concord-Mt. Diablo Trail ride grounds on August 14 to view their new grounds stretching across 500 acres on the north side of Mt. Diablo with access to another 2200 acres of state park riding land.

George Cardinet, Jr., association president said the area is a "beautiful place where a horseman can take anything from a 10 minute to a 10 hour ride."

CURRENTLY the Association has under construction the first of a series of 10 box stables and is drilling a water well. Land is cleared for more stables, a clubhouse, parking lot, arena and ring and a hole is being dug for a swimming pool. Fifteen miles of 12 to 14 foot wide trails have been bulldozed.

When the association was forced to sell a portion of their 17 acre former Bisso Lane site for State freeway right of way, members of the association disposed of the balance of the grounds to the city and school districts.

Funds from the land sale enabled the group, the second oldest trail ride outfit in the United States to purchase their new site. Construction is expected to begin this month on the club house itself.

THE NEW building will have a members lounge, kitchen, service facilities, bar and office. Cardinet said the building should be completed by late spring. Also planned for the main site are numerous residential lots for club members only.

Road Problem Bothers Orinda Subdvider

John Barron of Orinda, who plans to build 15 homes on 13 acres off Alta Vista and Dos Osos, has asked County Supervisors to advise him what to do about the half-mile of private road connecting his subdivision to the nearest county road.

The proposed subdivision is a mile and a half west of the Orinda Crossroads.

The county offered to take the road off his hands after he brings it up to county construction standards, but Barron has admitted that neighbors who own half of the road oppose the subdivision.

The board gave him a week to determine if Hacienda Homes Association, which maintains the road to within a half mile of Barron's land, will take over the remainder.

DeMaeyers Plan Home at Tahoe

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton DeMaeyer, 18 Ardor Drive, Orinda, have purchased a homesite at Tahoe Keys, the beach front development on Lake Tahoe's south shore.

DeMaeyer is vice president of the Contra Costa Savings & Loan Co.

The DeMaeyers are planning to build at Tahoe Keys next year. The family, including daughters Marty, 18, and Sallie, 9, are enthusiastic about water sports.

They also plan to take up snow skiing.

El Toyonal Residents Have Woes

Long alarmed over the heavy increase of traffic on El Toyonal which is insufficient for carrying high school buses, area residents have arranged an emergency meeting.

The problem, long considered serious by the community, will be discussed with county authorities at an 8 p.m. meeting in the Orinda Scout Hut, at the Orinda Park, on Monday, August 22.

The general public is invited to attend the meeting at which County Public Works Director Vic Sauer as well as chairman Mel Neilsen of the county board of supervisors will be present.

The county road, full of curves and narrow at many points, has long been the problem of the area, particularly of those with high school children since the large buses are not allowed to travel the upper area.

For further information regarding the meeting, call Mrs. Gwyn Donchin at CL 4-8238. Homeowners in the area are urged to attend.

$30 Million In EBMUD Bonds Out

The East Bay Municipal Utility District has called for bids on $30 million in general obligation bonds—part of the $252 million bond issue authorized by the voters on June 3, 1958.

This will be the second series of bonds sold by EBMUD to finance its $283-million, 10-year water development program for the East Bay. They will supplement $25 million in Series A bonds sold Feb. 18, 1958.

Under its 10-year program—now approximately 24 per cent complete—EBMUD is increasing the capacity of its storage reservoirs, filter plants and pumping plants to handle an estimated East Bay population of 2,500,000 by the year 2000.

The district also is constructing a new, 82-mile-long aqueduct and laying 900 miles of water distribution mains.

The program is being financed by the $252-million bond issue, plus current revenues.

To date, EBMUD has committed itself to projects with a total cost of $68,867,000. Contracts for another $56 million worth of construction are scheduled to be awarded during the 12-month period ending June 30, 1961.

Deadline for receiving bids on the $30 million worth of Series B bonds is Aug. 24 at 10 a.m. at the office of the District Secretary, 2130 Adeline Street, Oakland.

Miramonte Senior Tells Of Visit to Soviet Union

Editor's note: Cathy Cline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson E. Cline, 518 Miner Road, Orinda, is among the young people from the East Bay Area who are currently on the Oakland Y.M.C.A.'s good will trip to Europe.

Cathy, who will be a senior at Miramonte High School next semester, wrote the following letter upon the group's arrival in the Soviet Union.

John Thune of Moraga, executive secretary of the Oakland Y.M.C.A., is leading the tour.

Dear Everyone:

We arose early and went to breakfast. After breakfast we met the Russian soccer players again and said goodbye. We spent 15 hours on the train and we lost another hour. We met a few Finns on the train who were young also. On the train we had to declare our things, and they took a spot check of the luggage. Three people got chosen out of our group and guess who was one of them. I was! The man just dug around and then said O.K.

We hit Russia at about 5 o'clock. It was just about what I expected—drab and dreary, with no cars except taxis, buses and trucks. I really felt as though this was a new feeling I had never had before. The prices are very high, and the people looked very sad and wore peasant clothes. I really felt sorry for them. Hardly anyone speaks English here. Much less than in any other country we have visited.

WHEN WE were riding along we saw the old broken down buildings. Almost everyone had five broken windows at least. Then we saw a few of the workers' homes —old broken down used railroad cars. As we got nearer to Leningrad I expected it to look a little better, and it was just a wee bit better.

That night we went to a street dance. Here a friend and I were surrounded by 40 or 50 young, inquiring Russians. There was one Russian who was able to speak English very well. We were the center of attention and pretty soon we were so crowded in that it was a little hard to breathe, especially in this weather! I danced with a couple of Russians. We have a fun time laughing, joking, and dancing together. The people are very friendly and curious. I really am beginning to realize how important it is to my life to be seeing this while I am young.

One thing that happened to me was that a young men asked me right out if I liked Ike. I immediately said, yes, and he was a little amazed. One thing that they could not understand was why we could not speak Russian. The Berlitz books come in handy. I really do like the Russian people. The boys we were speaking to went to the university. They seemed quite smart, too. By this time it was 11:30, and I came up and went to bed. What a day!

TODAY, JULY 17, we went to the art museum all morning. There we saw Rembrandt's, Da Vinci's, Van Dyke's, Picasso's, Raphael's and Angelo's wonderful paintings. There was no Russian art there.

The afternoon was free, and so I sewed up some clothes and then walked into stores on the streets and into pastry stores. The prices were outrageous — $20 for a slip, $40 for shoes. I then wrote some postcards and went to dinner. After than we came home to where I am right now. I think that I will go to the street dance again tonight. It is now 9 but it looks about 6 o'clock.

We got out of the train and everybody just stared. I felt a little funny just having such good clothes as tennis shoes (they were fascinated by them), a skirt and blouse and a watch! We got our bus and went to our hotel. Boy, what a place, luxury plus. Then we headed towards dinner at about 10:30 p.m. It was still very light around here then! It gets dark about midnight.

We had a wonderful dinner and then sacked in. I felt a little odd getting all this when the people are so poor. I was really excited and amazed from my arriving in Russia and was not able to calm down until about 2 o'clock that morning! I barely moved around the next morning. I don't know how I managed to get to breakfast. I did almost miss the bus.

WE MET our intourist guide, and we spent all morning seeing famous buildings and statues. We then had lunch and afterwards we had a half hour rest. I went to sleep, of course! We drove about 60 kilometers out to see some beautiful statues, and we went swimming in the Gulf of Finland. What a place. The water was stagnant and warm, but it felt good anyway, since the temperature was about 85 degrees.

On the beach we talked to some Russians with a little sign language. People just dressed on the beach and swam in their bras and underpants! I was a little embarassed being in my one piece suit! Ha! After this we drove back to dinner. It seems as though all we do in this city is eat. Our guide was surprised that we wanted to go swimming as it was a little unusual taking us there.

This is the first country that really seems foreign to me, and I would not think of coming over to Europe without seeing it. It is one of the most thrilling and interesting things I have ever done in my life.

Not Just Another Study, But a Group With Purpose

The relocation of Bear Creek Road between Lafayette and Orinda has more effect on the county than would appear on the surface.

Because closely allied with this road is the construction of Briones Reservoir by the East Bay Municipal Utility District, and the purchase of Briones Park lands by the county.

The Contra Costa County Planning Commission has recommended the relocation of the present road, which will be inundated by the reservoir, to a location that does not meet with the approval of local residents.

This is a complex matter. There are many agencies and departments involved in the decision, including the Contra Costa County Park Director, the planning commission, the public works department, and, of course, EBMUD.

IT IS VERY EASY. in a situation like this, for each department or group to "pass the buck" to another, and to refuse to take responsibility where responsible action is needed.

It has been suggested that a committee should be formed which would include representatives of all these groups and others, which are allied in the work, and that this committee could do a thorough research job on the project.

The findings and recommendations could then be turned over to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors for final decision.

THIS PLAN IS feasible in that there is no immediate rush about the relocation of Bear Creek Road. It will be five years before the reservoir is finished.

We are in favor of this suggestion and would like to recommende that the committee could also include representatives from the Contra Costa County Development Association, the Park and Recreation Council, the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association and one or two outside experts.

These experts could be such people as William Penn Mott, an Orinda resident who is an expert on parks and park development, or Ralf Miller of Lafayette, who is associated with the University of California and is also an expert on parks.

EX-OFFICIO members, either with or without a vote, could include representatives from the Orinda Association, the Lafayette Improvement Association, the Happy Valley Improvement Association and the Sleepy Hollow Recreation Association.

A "neutral" member of an outside group, representing Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill or Alamo could also be included.

For example, it is possible that the entire county park master plan will have to be revised in the light of the construction of Briones Reservoir and the possible uses of this lake for recreation.

THE COUNTY HAS already made a considerable dent in the total purchase of Briones Park land — $270,000, and is considering the purchase of additional land which will bring the park boundaries up to the edge of the reservoir.

But this would cost a great deal of additional money — beyond that already allocated for the purchase of the park as it was originally planned.

This might be very well, but it would mean that the county would be putting all its park "eggs" in one basket. In other words, all the county funds should not be spent on one park in one corner of the county, but might be divided up so that other areas will be served too.

The philosophy of park development is very close to each person in the county, in that it means that, if done properly, you will be able to hop into your car and in a few minutes be in a delightful spot. Boating, fishing, picnicking, all should be yours to enjoy.

But remember also that you are picking up the tab. Right now the funds are coming out of your taxes, but with any extensive development, it is entirely possible that a bond isue could be asked. This of course would eventually come out of your pocket also.

Therefore, we would like to suggest that the committee outlined above be formed, and that the entire matter be investigated before any irrevocable action is taken.

We understand that at least one high county official is in favor of this idea, and we hope that the board can be persuaded to adopt it.

The ultimate results might be much more plausible, and more logically reached, if the proper steps are taken right now.

Go Get 'Em, County!

You wouldn't think $102 would bounce all the way to Washington, D.C. and cause a furor, would you, but that's exactly what has happened!

The $102 was the cut in Welfare aid payments the county was giving to Mrs. Eula Henderson of Richmond because she refused to take a lie detector test regarding the father of her youngest child.

At first, of course, it was only a county matter, but pretty soon the state got into the act.

Violently! The state declared that it would withhold state welfare funds from the county unless the payments were restored.

WELL, WE HAVE a couple of pretty good fighters on our side. District Attorney John Nejedly did an excellent job of presenting the county case—such a good job, in fact, that he was upheld in the courts.

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors realized the immensity of the problem and promptly tackled the state welfare board.

There was to be a public hearing when the county could state its case, but at the last minute the state cancelled the hearing.

Now the federal government has gotten into the picture and is threatening to do the same thing to the state that the state was threatening to do to the county.

Only by now that original $102 tab has risen to $60 million . . . that's the amount of money the federal government gives the state.

WE WOULD LIKE to say that we think our county and our district attorney should go right ahead with the excellent job they have started.

They have not only challenged the state, but are (willing to tackle the federal boys as well.

That, obviously, is why the state backed down from the public hearing. They could have been made to look pretty foolish when Contra Costa County presented, in public, its reasoning for withholding funds from Mrs. Henderson.

FRANKLY, THE LOCAL situation has been terrible, but that is the way the welfare program is run. This situation has been aired, so far, to the benefit of the county. If it keeps up, it could equally benefit the state, and even the nation.

Again, we would like to congratulate our county officials on their stand and determination, and we have only one thing to add.

Go get 'em, county!

A Friend's Footprint?

By NORMAN COLBY

Our wonderful residential area has become well known for its sunshine, recreation, traffic problems, school activities, anxious commuters, land zoning hassles, cultural activities—and prowlers.

Each and every night of the week, dozens of phone calls are received at the sheriff's office and police department, with anxious homeowners telling about the footprints under the window (often under several windows), the shadowy figure and its quick retreat past smashed garden vegetables and over the back fence.

It's summertime — time for the outdoor barbecuing and bedroom-window prowling.

WHO ARE THEY? We know prowlers number in the hundreds for this area alone.

Surely they don't get in their cars and drive miles from their home towns. Perhaps a few would be so discreet.

But the object of their interest is usually a familiar window, a familiar house, a familiar face.

So, the prowlers are our neighbors and their young sons.

THE SCENE REPEATS itself every summer night. The husband must go on an errand or to a movie.

The teenage son is going out riding with some "pals," or down to the corner drug store. Mother waves goodbye.

And half an hour later, he is peering into a window, risking a shotgun blast, capture and disgrace, the official revelation that the nice Jones boy down the street has probably watched you read the evening newspaper, waiting . . .

The Sun's women employees often speak of the prowlers.

ONE EMPLOYEE'S husband, angered by the repetition of the footprint routine, stretched needle thread between posts, shoulder-height, and the threads were regularly broken.

He shouted once, frightening off the visitor. He leaped from a window another time, but the visitor got away. Like most homeowners, he hesitates to shoot.

The wife doesn't know what to do. They have discussed moving away.

Of course, they are careful to keep shades drawn. But their home is a nice home, a little ways off from the others. Perhaps it could be a little better lighted, outside. But who wants to live in a home illuminated like a prison, and stand guard dutv every night?

THE LAW enforcement officers do their best, but there are hundreds of prowler reports each week, and the clues are few.

Most prowlers in our area return to their families when their evening's stroll is finished.

Like their victims, they have come to love the privacy and quiet of living in their own home in a respectable little suburban community.

Hi-Ho...Come to the Fair!

Letters to The Editor

Dear Editor:

In an editorial today you glibly comment on the opening of Lafayette and other dams for fishing and boating. The inference is that Lafayette people would be so fortunate. This is not the whole story. Lafayette does not own the Lafayette dam or area, and it would be opened to all citizens.

Very few people in Lafayette are intested in fishing and boating compared to the thousands that would come to desecrate this beautiful spot.

WEIGH WELL the extra costs to all taxpayers for maintenance, police and many things built for the accomodation of concessionnaires. Yes, a little more chlorine will make the drinking water sanitary, but what about the flavor?

Another thing, why grieve for Lafayette area inhabitants? By your own admission, you suggest many adjacent recreational spots that very few Lafayette people visit. By now, one should know Lafayette residents like their own back yards, and they are not underprivileged.

Have you noticed any great rush toward a complete community center, beautification project, or any civic interest in incorporation This spells out one thing, Lafayette likes the status quo.

LAFAYETTE DAM is now a haven for wild life and let's let them have this one spot; goodness knows man has encroached enough already.

If you have ever lived as I did in an area where artificial lakes were used for such as you suggest, you could easily see what man's invasion means. It is something, once started, cannot be stopped, and all that natural beauty cannot "take it."

Yes, we own the area. By we, we mean every United States citizen if this area is opened to the public. If there was once (and is now) a reason for keeping it a closed area, it is still valid in my opinion.

VIVIAN PEGLOW.

Dear Editor:

As a home owner in Rheem Valley for three years, I wish to express our appreciation for the fine operation of our fire department under the management of Al Baitx, our local fire chief.

The two fires I have witnessed in our valley have been so quickly and efficiently controlled that we live with complete confidence in our fire department.

Beyond this security, Mr. Baitx renders the community a service which, as a parent, I will forever be grateful.

We have two sons. Three years ago, our younger son hit a bump while riding his bicycle. He was thrown 15 feet onto cement and was knocked unconscious.

Mr. Baitx went to him immediately as he was the first person notified. His first-aid treatment was excellent.

He immediately arranged an appointment with a doctor for us as we were new in the community and knew no doctor.

Again, this year, we have reason to be grateful to Mr. Baitx.

Our older son overturned in a sportscar. Mr. Baitx was the first person notified and immediately went to the scene of the accident and rendered first aid and brought our son home.

. . . The community owes him a great deal for his very real concern for our welfare, which he daily demonstrates in so many ways.

. . . We want him to know we appreciate him and would not like to be without him.

MRS. GERALD CLARK.

No Humdrum Matron Is August, Summer Patron!

By MARIE MONAHAN

LOOK WHO'S standing over there with such a grand & noble air!
She's wearing hummingbirds in her hair, a bauble of a sun-flecked pear & from her pockets pulls a pair of Tickets to the County Fair!
'Tis our favorite summer patron,
Never a humdrummer matron —
GREAT DAME AUGUST!
Wearing ribbons she deserves, for her prize pickles, peach, preserves,
For jars & jars in glistening row, of fruits that in her orchards grow.
She picks tomatoes on the vine —
Dashes off a postcard line —
Traipse through vineyards where she drapes the clusters of grapes in purple, amber lustres.
AUGUST bakes herself an apple pie.
Catches child a Butterfly!
Sighs, surrenders with jaundiced eye to armied ants parading by.
From iridescent ocean sprays, she fashions favorite summer days.
Hangs the moon up carefully
Talks with pine trees prayerfully.
Urges you to play in sun, to follow fast in search of fun . . .
SURGES tourists, travelers jetting, to get away to where they're getting.
August sleeps & never snores
Berthed in Mother Earth's outdoors . . .
Drifts into infinity, counting gold in midnight sea.
Wakes in morn with battle scars from sleeping underneath the stars . . .
Wears with pride her badge of honor for she's mosquitoes LARGEST donor!
Cuts, gashes, bumps & lumps remind you that in the woods she'll always find you . . .
Or shaping castles at the beach
Or c/o General Delivery, out of reach.
She who knows & knows it best, that Summer's NOT for getting REST!
No companion's more alluring than August when it comes to touring.
ANGUST month whose only blunder . . .
Is lightning flash or clap of thunder!
With open arms she welcomes guests.
She passes all the rigid tests of what to do & when & where . . . & shrugs from shoulders' slightest care . . . with
HUMMINGBIRDS still in her hair!
While singing children with sunburned noses
Bring her bouquets . . . of wilted roses!

Generally It's Fair

We would like to say, right off the bat, that the State of California is generally pretty fair in its dealings with the public when it comes to the condemnation of land for roads and freeways.

But recently we ran into a snag.

A local resident, Tony Lagiss, sued the state for condemning an entire parcel of his land for a freeway right-of-way when the state actually only used a part of the land.

IT WAS LAGISS' contention that the could and should take only the land that it needed, not the entire parcel.

The state, of course, felt that it was cheaper to buy an entire parcel than to purchase just a portion of it and then pay the owner for severance damages, and in this the state was probably correct.

However, Mr. Lagiss was upheld by the courts.

We feel that the state has justifiably been careful with the taxpayers' dollars, and that is a good thing because you know what it costs to build a mile or so of freeway—and part of the cost is land acquisition.

HOWEVER, THERE ARE times when the state practice has been unfair to an individual, and certainly the individual feels the hurt much more deeply than does the entire state.

But once again our system has proven itself, and a taxpayer has had access to the courts to correct an unfair situation. Undoubtedly it will benefit many other residents of this—and other—counties.

Old Bob Was There to Write This Old Story

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

One of the funniest guys on the Sun Staff is Bob Holt. "Old Bob," as I call him, recently rejoined our ad staff and I asked him to write a column on a most interesting "experience" he had some years ago. So this is really Old Bob's column. (Incidentally, he is really not old, but he calls me "Old Herm," so I reciprocate.)

'I remember December . . . !

By BOB HOLT

Whenever December comes around, my spirits rise with anticipation of the good times ahead; the fun of watching a child get a very special Santa Claus request fulfilled on Christmas morning — everything gay and festive, as it should be.

But the time also recalls a December quite different. An ominous, frightening December. A somber and lonely December for a lot of us, who were away from the mainland. A December punctuated with a date not soon forgotten.

December 7, 1941.

That was the date. The place, Honolulu, Hawaii. It wasn't a hilarious month for anyone anywhere, but the loneliness I referred to was the feeling that this island was a forgotten one.

My wife and I were living there when the Japanese gentlemen woke the sleepy island of peace with one of the most terribly efficient military maneuvers in history; the bombing of Pearl Harbor and all the bases on the island described by Matson pamphlets as "Paradise of the Pacific."

It was a fitting pre-war description, but underlying all the tinsel implied by such adjectives was the undercurrent of people engaged in the intense job of building one of the most formidable fortresses in the world.

Formidable, yet vulnerable, because of the apathy for which we Americans are famous.

Until the chips are down.

Humid heat in Hawaii causes people to be informal — both in deportment and attire. For example, shoes are removed by visitors upon entry into their friends home — custom rarely practiced in more clement weather.

Saturday night, December 6, 1941, a party was in progress at our home in Pua Loa Hale. The participants represented all walks, creeds and beliefs at that party, or luau, as it is called there.

At the height of the festivities, a neighbor arrived to say she was on her way to meet a friend, General Short, by name and promised to look in later and have us meet him and his wife.

None of us, as civilians, were too impressed by high ranking military names. The island was alive with them.

Perhaps if we had known that this particular name was to be emblazened in headlines the world over the following morning, more interest would have been shown.

As it turned out, the general didn't return to the party that night. No one place any significance to it, as he had been directing an island-wide alert as part of a war-game in progress.

And the alert had ended that night.

Our home was located some 400 feet from the main runway of an airfield named Hickam Field. Five hundred families lived there.

The drone of the big B-17's, (latest bomber of that time), got little attention from us, even when it seemed they would surely fly through the room, as the pulsing motors shook dishes on shelves.

Little wonder then, next morning at 7:55 a.m., that motor sounds hardly disturbed the sleeping inhabitants of that island which had such a merry night.

A deafening roar of one brought me to our window. (We slept on the second floor, but when I saw a low-wing plane fly by at eye-level, I was merely interested).

It was close enough to see the man in the rear cockpit with his machine gun. It was close enough to see the red markings on the noisy dreadnaught. It was close enough for me to urge my wife to come and "look at the Sunday maneuvers about to begin."

And I quote myself.

So, on December 7, 1941, my wife and I stood clad in pajamas and watched the biggest war in history begin, while I cleverly explained what was happening.

"See that one?" I said. "That's marked red, to indicate the attacking army. Pretty soon we ought to see the blue defense planes come over from Wheeler field and really start a show."

Click, click, click

The world's biggest scoop was happening and a photographer with loaded Speed Graphic, was gaily taking shots of bombers making their runs on hangers, airplanes people and ships, with not enough sense to know he was never again to be in such a spot of opportunity.

Unhappily, that dumb photographer was I.

And I had company. Many of us were taking pictures by then, a fact the G-2 (secret service) was happy to learn later. It's hard to believe now, that we did this for 20 minutes, before someone noticed the anti-aircraft bursts were black instead of white.

Other sounds came to us. Unfamiliar dull thuds. A black curtain was forming over Pearl Harbor.

There seemed to be more attacking than defending. More bombing than anti-aircraft fire.

Then we saw it.

A mess hall, with 400 men inside at breakfast, suddenly disintegrated into high-flung rubble.

Men — running on the airstrip — disappeared into thin air. Air that was thickening now, with the ozone smell of gunfire.

An airplane from nowhere, came toward us with spitting machine-gun voice, to tell us in language of splintering wood and tap-tapping on concrete, that this was live ammunition.

When it passed, I discovered myself flat on the floor inside the house, as were the rest of the group. Not one knew how he had gotten there.

"Hitting the deck" needs no previous training or experience. Men and women do it as naturally as any war weary G.I.

Behavior patterns of people differed.

One man decided that moment was the exact time to repair a chair, which had needed it for weeks. A woman rushed to her house and emerged with a caged canary. Shoes would have been the better choice, as she churned over a gravel path.

My wife did better. She rescued our six-weeks-old terrier (shell shocked by then) and a bottle of Ten-High bourbon left over from the party.

Then everything became quiet. For the perfect paradox, a beautiful rainbow appeared over Pearl Harbor.

No one spoke. Just looked at the rainbow and each other.

A shouting voice in the distance came closer. It was a soldier driving through the area yelling, "We are being attacked by an enemy. Pearl Harbor has been wiped out!" and sped past.

Radios were dead. A car was nearby and we tried the battery radio.

The cool voice of Webley Edwards, a local announcer, told us who the enemy was: the Japs, in their rising sun-marked planes I had so wisely identified as our own "attack maneuver bombers."

The rest is history.

Aerial photos taken in the afternoon told us the sad facts; the Japs knew our business better than we did that day — hangars, which were empty, were not bombed. Hangars with airplanes inside, were flattened.

At Wheeler field, home of the pursuit squadrons, the nicely lined-up planes were strewn with incendiary bombs. When the pilots rushed out to stop the fires, they were strafed with cold, calculated precision.

Two passes. Two completions.

In putting down this small account of events that day, the thought occurs that many people were wrong. Many mistakes were made. Hindsight is never an answer, but apathy, if it could ever come again to this country, might very well be the end to the whole problem.

There might not be any more greed, or arguments about capitalists and communists. There might be an end to bigotry.

There might not be any people at all.

Do you remember that December?

Mrs. Robert Seaton Loves People...

She Helped Organize Papaya Branch; Loves It

By JEAN JERNIGAN

In September of 1958, a group of seven women worked together to form Papaya Branch of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay. One of the seven was Mrs. Robert Seaton of 564 Verona Avenue, Danville.

"I had always been interested in the Children's Hospital," she remarked, "and I like the services the hospital renders and felt that a branch in Danville could be of great service in assisting the hospital.

"DURING its first year of existence, Papaya Branch raised more than 3,000 which it turned over the the hospital."

Mrs. Seaton said that newcomers to the area interested in serving children's hospital with Papaya Branch, should first become acquainted with one of the present members who in turn can sponsor a newcomer. Associate memberships are also available, she said.

The year 1958 was a particularly busy one for Jane Seaton. In addition to organizing Papaya Branch, she served that year as president of the Danville Junior Women's Club.

She has also served as the club's parliamentarian and is working this year as historian. Among the activities Mrs. Seaton enjoyed the most with the Danville Juniors was her work in helpng to organize the Library League and to raise money to provide a supervised summer recreation program for Danville children last summer.

WHEN THE Seatons' daughter, Deana, became a Brownie scout, also in 1958, Mrs. Seaton served as troop leader. "I just loved it," she exclaimed, it was so much fun working with the girls, probably a lot easier than if it had been a group of boys.

Born and raised in Oakland, Mrs. Seaton has lived with her family in Danville for the past five years. She met her husband at Santa Rosa College when both were students there, and was married soon after graduation.

Warm, friendly Jane Seaton likes to entertain, and usually the guests find themselves part of a happy family group around the swimming pool, where appetites are sharpened for the barbecue.

ALL OF THE family enjoys swimming, including Donna and her brother Bobby, who is seven. The children are also a part of frequent Sunday afternoon outings to the city where the family enjoys a movie and dining out.

Calling herself an "informal gardener, just plain dirt," Jane Seaton said, "I really love to garden and spend a lot of my leisure time gardening while my husband golfs."

In between her more active service with the Papaya Branch and Junior Women's Club, Mrs. Seaton has also managed to find time to serve as a room mother for both Donna and Bobby.

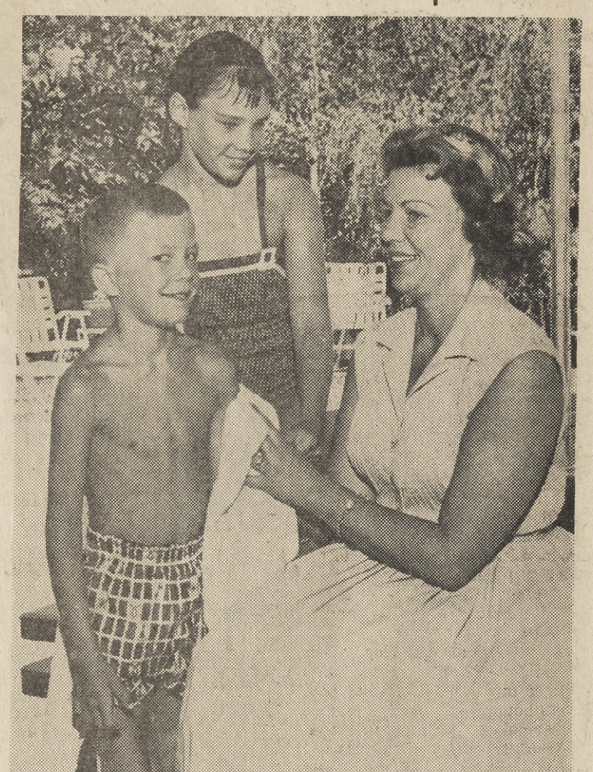
VACATION time finds the Seatons usually at Tahoe, "I love it there," she reminisced, "We always have a perfectly wonderful time and the country is so beautiful."

Busy as she is with work in the community, Mrs. Seaton has managed to keep both home and family operating smoothly. "I really enjoy cooking," she stated, "and although the fun cooking is outside on the barbecue, I like cooking for the family on "inside" occasions, too.

Gretchen and Thaddeus are an important part of the Seaton family and great friends with their children. Gretchen is a daschund and Thaddeus is a Basset Hound.

"THADDEUS has moments of thinking he is a lap dog," Mrs. Seaton laughed. "and we have quite a time convincing him that Bassett Hounds were not created for this purpose."

When the Seatons go out for fun on occasions the children are not along they particularly enjoy dining out at various establishments, but both agreed that entertaining at home for their many friends was their greatest pleasure.



EVERYBODY swims in the Robert Seaton family. Pictured by the pool, a favorite spot for entertaining, are Mrs. Robert Seaton of 564 Verona Avenue, Danville with son Bobby and daughter Donna.

Cable Car Will Transport Guests At Gala Benefit

An ancient San Francisco cable car embellished, refurbished and motorized, will transport guests up hill and down dale from parking areas at the Claremont Ranch in Upper Happy Valley, Lafayette, at the John Muir Memorial Hospitals Auxiliary's "Evening Under The Stars" on September 17.

The services of the famous little motored cable-car are being donated by Roos Brothers for the gala event.

Gaiety and glamor will combine as "Evening Under The Stars" guests arrive at the lovely grounds of the former H. J. Kaiser estate, to participate in the varied events of the evening, cocktails, fashion show, dinner, and dancing. Coutourier fashions will be shown by Irene Sargent of Oakland, and music will be by Ray Hackett's orchestra.

Mrs. Royal Doty, in charge of invitations and tickets, along with her assistants Mrs. R. T. Hackett, and Mrs. Frederick Ackerman. Mailed invitation this week for "Evening Under the Stars," all proceeds of which will go towards the Hospital's building fund.

Natalie Pray Will Wed September 18

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon D. Pray of Orinda have announced the engagement of their daughter, Natalie Harriet Pray, to Kenneth Stanley Defiebre, son of Captain and Mrs. Bruce K. Defiebre of Pebble Beach.

The bride elect, who plans a September wedding, is a graduate of Acalanes High School and Stephens College, and spent 10 months in Europe with Chico State's Study and Travel Group.

While at Acalanes she was affiliated with Daphne Branch of Children's Hospital.

Her fiance is a graduate of Severn Preparatory School, Severna Park, Maryland, and graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, earning his degree in mechanical engineering. He was affiliated with Chi Phi Fraternity while at the University of California.

QUANTICO, Virginia is home for Mr. and Mrs. Larry Peterson who were married June 18 at St. Joseph's Cathedral, Berkeley. Both are former Lafayette residents. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arne and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Peterson.

Legal Secretaries Fete New Members

The Legal Secretaries of Contra Costa County Second District held their initiation dinner for new members at the Villa San Ramon, Highway 21 at Old Crow Canyon Road Tuesday.

A social hour preceded dinner.

Diablo Adoption Auxiliary Plans an Active Year

The Diablo Adoption Auxiliary has an impressive list of activities planned. The group expects to obtain a speaker from the University of California's school of social work to address a meeting and also hear from a psychologist who will discuss the problems peculiar to adopted children.

Other speakers are being planned to discuss foster homes and the current state legislation pertaining to adoption.

The organization has also formed a speakers' panel to furnish qualified speakers to local group meetings regarding adoption and its effects on the community. Anyone wishing to obtain a speaker for their group may contact Mrs. Paul Epperson, YE 5-4803.

All women interested in adoption or the work of auxiliary are invited to attend the August meeting. Arrangements can be made by contacting Mrs. David McClintic or Mrs. Paul Epperson.

Questions pertaining to adoption or any of its phases specifically may be addressed to the Diablo Adoption Auxiliary Question and Answer Service, P.O. Box 44, Lafayette.

Mrs. Virginia Carlson, child welfare worker for the Contra Costa Adoption Unit, will discuss her work with the girls in residence at two of the Bay Area maternity homes when she addresses the Diablo Adoption Auxiliary at the meeting Wednesday at 10 a.m. Mrs. Douglas Fields, 100 Trelany Road, Pleasant Hill, will be hostess to the group.

Mrs. Paul Epperson presided at the July meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. David McClintic. The group voted to supply 300 pamphlets dealing with adoption to the Health Department. Final plans were also completed for the adoption unit's booth at the County Fair in Antioch.

August 26 the organization will hold its annual picnic at Martinez Park for the members, their children and the staff workers from the Contra Costa Adoption Unit. Welcomed as guest at the meeting was Mrs. Velma Morwitz of Concord.

Auxiliary Plans Moonlight Cruise

The newly formed units of the Catholic Social Service Auxiliary of Contra Costa County, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Patricia Hart of Pacelli Unit, Walnut Creek, are planning a benefit shipboard dinner dance October 8.

The auxiliary has chartered three cruisers, to leave at approximately 7:30 p.m. from Port of Oakland at the foot of Jack London Square, and spend four hours cruising the Bay.

The units of the auxiliary participating in the organization of this event are Regina and Padua of Pleasant Hill, Marquette of Lafayette, Pacelli and Cabrini of Walnut Creek, and Siena of Martinez. Father John McCracken is the executive director of the Catholic Social Service, Contra Costa County.

Anyone interested in placing reservations may contact Mrs. Eleanore Van Ness at YE 4-4202.

Alaska Will Be Home For James Goves

Carol Ann Creager became the bride of James Frank Gove on July 23 in ceremonies performed by the Reverend James Upshaw in Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morse Creager of 855 Moraga Road, Lafayette, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a full length gown of silk bombazine over taffeta. The bouffant skirt was cut in princess lines with panels of Alencon lace cascading down to form a chapel train, attached to a fitted short sleeved bodice topped with scalloped lace scoop neckline.

Her flowers were white orchids, carnations and roses. Attending the bride as maid of honor was Nina Adams, who has since become Mrs. James Clark. The bridesmaids were Mesdames Charles Tohill and Clark Wilde.

The bridal attendants wore pale aqua chiffon sheaths, with matching circular veils dotted with pearls. They carried yellow carnation bouquets.

Mrs. Creager wore a gown of dior silk organza with matching accessories and the groom's mother chose a gown of soft beige and blue print, fashioned sheath style.

Gerald Gove served as his brother's best man, with Al Reutter and George Gove seating the guests.

After a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination, the justweds will make their home at the Port of Whittier, Alaska.

Iris Teuscher Is Wed To William Casey

Now at home in Reliez Valley, Lafayette, are Mr. and Mrs. William B. Casey, who were married at Carson City, Nevada on July 16.

Attending the couple at their wedding was Clyde Casey, brother of the groom, on from Wheeling, West Virginia.

After a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, the bride and groom returned to their respective jobs, he as a public relations man for Pinkerton Detective Agency and she as officer manager of The Sun.

The bride is the former Iris Teuscher of Lafayette.

Farewell Tea Honors Mrs. Stuart Smith

Honoring Mrs. Stuart Smith (Virginia) recently, was the Farewell Tea and Handkerchief Shower given by Mrs. Gordon Frazell at her home on Valley Hill Drive.

Active in many organizations, especially the Lafayette Suburban Woman's Club where she was vice president and program chairman the past two years and previously Garden Section chairman for two years.

After serving as Troop Leader for the Girl Scout Organization, Mrs. Smith acted as Troop consultant, Lafayette District Program chairman, and finally Lafayette District chairman and received the "Certificate of Appreciation" for her contribution of time and talent.

The Smith's two children are Chuck, a 1960 graduate of Acalanes High School, and Ellen, a junior.

Dixie Huffman Is Married To Navy Man

Dixie Huffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer G. Huffman of 3231 North Main Street became the bride of Kenneth Ray Nelson at a double ring ceremony on July 9 in Christ the King Catholic Church.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Nelson of Heiskell, Tennessee and is serving with the U.S. Navy as a fire control technician on the U.S.S. Vesuvius.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace with three quarter sleeves and rounded neckline surrounded by pearl-centered lace rosettes. Her short veil was attached to a head band with flower clusters of white chiffon and wore white gloves.

Carrying a bouquet of white carnations with center orchid, the bride was attended by Diane Smith as maid of honor and Merva Winn and Carol Speck as bridesmaids.

The bridal attendants wore identical frocks of peacock blue silk organaza with matching headpieces and matching pumps. They carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations with satin streamers.

Shelby Hilt was best man and Gerald Anderson and Lee Carpenter, shipmates of the groom served as ushers.

A reception at the bride's parents' home followed the ceremony performed by Reverend Father DeGroot.

A honeymoon trip across the country, with stops at Grand Canyon, Yellowstone Park, the Black Hills, and various visits to relatives will continue for a month.

AAUW Plans Busy Year

The Pleasant Hill Branch of the American Association of University Women has completed their plans for the coming year.

Following their purpose of uniting alumnae of colleges and universities, which have been approved by the National AAUW, for practical education work, Mrs. James Crothers, second vice president and program chairman, announces that in addition to the regular monthly meeting featuring outstanding speakers in the fields of AAUW interest, there will be three study sections and one bridge section.

The study sections will be: Art—studying art of the Orient and India, Contempory Problems—studying education, legislation and community problems, and International Relations — studying "Latin America, A World in Transition."

There will be a series of neighborhood coffees in the near future under the direction of Mrs. James Garrett, first vice president and membership chairman, to answer questions for those interested in joining the group. Those wishing to attend or wanting information may call Mrs. Garrett, MU 5-4557.

In addition to the two vice presidents, the new board consists of Mesdames William Gordon, president; John Fletcher, treasurer; E. L. Woloveke, recording secretary; John Walker, corresponding secretary; Robert Patterson, art chairman; Raymond Vandiver, bridge; John Riehl, building fund; Eugene Ingalls, bulletin; Dean Gilson, contemporary problems; Harvey Head, elementary education; R. Roskelley, higher education; Ferd Voelker, fellowship fund; Harry Knight Jr., historian; Carl A. Magno, hospitality; R. Newacheck and W Raymond, international relations; Alfred Barnes, legislation; Franklyn Lloyd Jr., librarian; Earl Wertz, mass media; Robert Lord, parliamentarian; Earl Snell, publicity; Richard Knight, social and economic issues; G. M. Wadsworth, status of women, and Raymond Dunn, telephone.

Robert Edward Mossman Weds In Los Altos

Robert Edward Mossman took Nancy Carol Nute as his bride on July 16 in ceremonies conducted by Dr. Richard Silverthorn in Los Altos Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Nute of Las Altos. For her wedding she chose a floor length gown of silk organza, fashioned princess style with chapel sweep yoke and long sleeves of Alencon lace.

A crown of net, lace and seed pearls held her illusion fingertip veil in place.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose Anne Cathey as her maid of honor. Ruth Leighton, Priscilla Small, Charlotte Plum, Judy Smith, Gale Foster, Ellen Nute and Barbara Nute.

The bridal attendants wore gowns of Hyacinth blue silk organza with portrait necklines and double circle skirts. They carried white lace parasols with garlands of sweetheart roses.

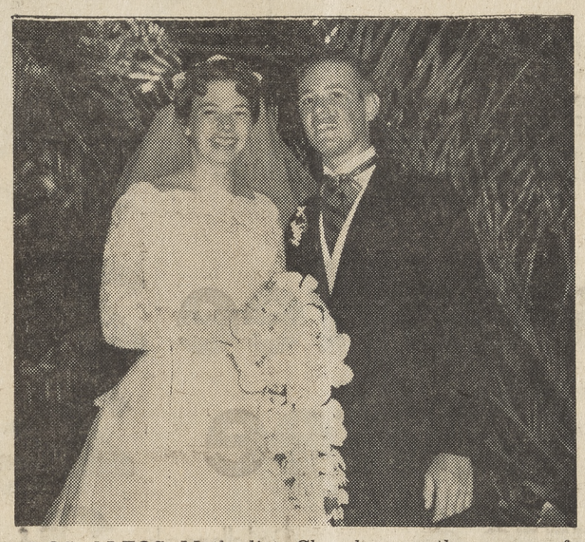
The bride's mother wore a gown of pale blue silk organza and matching accessories. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Mossman chose a gown of melon colored lace, fashioned sheath style and matching accessories.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Mossman of 3 Middle Road, Lafayette, chose James Boyce Nute, the bride's brother, as his best man. Seating the guests were Thomas R. Layne, Hank Wapstra, Michael Pond, Steve Annis, Jim Mossman, brother of the groom, Jerry Noll and Randy Smith, cousin of the bride.

Beverly Hamman and Marjorie Oglesby were the candle lighters.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the garden of the bride's parents' Los Altos home.

Carmel was the honeymoon destination of the newlyweds.



LOS ALTOS Methodist Church was the scene of Nancy Carol Nute and Robert Edward Mossman's wedding on July 16. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mossman of 3 Middle Road, Lafayette.

Donna deVarona Qualifies for U.S. Olympic Swim Event

BOB SHERMAN, former Far Western Conference diving champion, will take a team to the first annual Walnut Creek AAU diving meet, to be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Las Lomas School. Sherman is a physical education teacher at Pine Grove School in Orinda, and diving coach for the Orinda Recreation Department, Soltau's Swim School and Miramonte High School. —Sun photo by Pat Hill.

Young Swimmer Finishes Fourth With 1:04.3 Time

Donna deVarona, Lafayette's young Olympic swimming prospect, qualified Tuesday for the finals of the 100-meter freestyle event at the trials in Detroit.

She finished fourth, holding a time of 1:04.3 through both the heats and the semi-finals, and went into the finals Wednesday.

Her mother, Mrs. David T. deVarona, 3404 Hall Lane, said Donna was still excited when she talked to her Tuesday night, but sounded tired.

"SHE KNOWS the hay is in the barn now, and it's a very tense time," Mrs. deVarona said.

Low time for the 100-meter free style semi-finals was 1:02.4, set by Chris Von Saltza of the Santa Clara swim club.

Susan Barkley, 15-year-old Orinda swimmer, qualified for the semi-finals of the 100-meter free style with a time of 1:06.4, but did not make it to the finals Wednesday.

SUSAN expected to enter the 100-meter free style relay heats yesterday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Barkley, 6 Irving Court.

Carolyn Schuler, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Schuler, 95 Van Ripper Lane, Orinda, entered the 100-meter butterfly heats Wednesday.

No details were available on George Harrison of Orinda at press time.

A SURPRISE to Bay Area semi-pro teams were the Walnut Creek Merchants, who compiled a good record during the season, and were strong in the playoffs until a loss to Croll's of Oakland. The team shows great promise, say observers. Here are Don Hopkins, pitcher, Joe McElroy, manager, and Mike Kritcher, left to right. Wade Hanson also hurled during the season. —Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Diablo Names Golf Winners

Results from Diablo Country Club women's group iron tournament, held recently, are as follows:

Class A: Mrs. P. N. Kane, 84-11-73; Mrs. Ron Patten, 93-19-74; Mrs. K. W. Cannon, 91-16-75.

Putts: 27, Mrs. F. A. Clenaghen.

Las Lomas Pool Hosts 1st AAU Event Tomorrow

A number of young central county diving champions will be on hand tomorrow for the first annual Walnut Creek AAU age group diving meet, an event which will be open to the public free of charge.

The meet will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Las Lomas High School pool, under the joint sponsorship of the Walnut Creek Park and Recreation Department and the Soltau Swim School.

FIRST AAU-sanctioned diving event of any kind to be held in the central county area, the meet will be managed by Bob Sherman of Walnut Creek, physical education teacher in the Orinda Union School District.

Sherman said there will be five separate age divisions for the competition, with special invitational meets being held in the 13 and 14 and 15 through 17 age groups. Other divisions are 8 and under, 9 and 10 and 11 and 12 years.

In the two youngest divisions, the competition will consist of three optional dives from different lists. The 11 and 12 year group will be required to perform front and back dives plus the three optional dives from different lists.

REQUIRED dives for the 13 and 14 group are the 100, 200, 400 and three optional and for the 15 through 17 group a 500 dive and an additional optional dive are added.

Lorraine Soltau of the Soltau Swim School said medals will be awarded for first, second and third place finishes in each division. In addition, trophies will be presented to the highest boys' team and the highest girls' team in the standings.

Entries must be filed by noon tomorrow. The cost is 50 cents per person, Mrs. Soltau stated. The pool will be open from 9 a.m. to noon tomorrow for practice, she added.

AMONG the competitors at the meet will be eight central county residents who won spots at the AAU diving meet in Madera last Sunday.

The young divers and their places last Sunday are Bill Theuriet of Walnut Creek, first in boys' 15 through 17; Suzy Manske of Lafayette, first in girls' 13-14; Gayle Baker of Orinda, third in girls' 13-14; Donna Peake of Orinda, sixth in girls' 13-14.

Also Darlene Georgian of Lafayette, first in girls' 11-12; Claudia Lehto of Lafayette, sixth in girls' 11-12; Mary Handelin of Walnut Creek, second in girls' 9-10; and Mike Sullivan of Orinda, first in boys' 9-10.

Former Champ Will Take Team To Diving Meet

Bob Sherman, local swimming and diving coach, will take the Soltau Swim School's diving team to the first annual Walnut Creek AAU diving meet at Las Lomas High School tomorrow.

A physical education teacher at Pine Grove Intermediate School in Orinda, Bob is also diving coach for the Orinda Recreation Department, for Soltau's and for Miramonte High School.

During the summer he is swim coach in the Orinda Recreation Department.

He was a champion in three-meter diving in 1950-51 in the Far Western Conference, and in the 1948 Junior College Western Conference.

With his wife and two young sons he lives at 297 Lucinda Lane, Walnut Creek. Mark Sherman, 4½ years old, can already dive forward and backward and perform a half twist, and Steven, at two years old, is just learning to swim.

Bob says he is always looking for youngsters interested in competitive diving.

Ladies' Day Golf Results Told

The Orinda Country Club has announced results of last week's selective nine-iron tournament event.

Class A: Mrs. Blake Calder, 30-6-24; Mrs. Marshall Steel, 36-7½-28½; Mrs. J. A. Sweet, 39-10½-28½; Mrs. William Baughman, 39-9½-29½.

Class B: Mrs. James Cadien, 41-14-27; Mrs. John Tiedemann, 43-15-28; Mrs. George Runyan, 43-14-29.

Mrs. Calder had a 79, breaking 80 for the first time. She has a 12 handicap and has been playing golf for about six years. She resides at 2 Vista Del Moraga, Orinda.

Underwater Tube Could Be Earthquake Proof

A proposed four mile rapid transit tube under the bay between San Francisco and Oakland would cost $127,191,000 including its approaches, and would be earthquake proof, according to a recent engineers' report.

The project which would take four years to complete, is dependent on the approval of the voters of the five county rapid transit district to general obligation bonds to finance other parts of the system.

Exhaustive tests have been conducted to determine the effects of earthquakes on the tube. Engineers concluded that it could be made to withstand any conceivable quake.

It said the tube would be constructed of 63 100-foot sections of prefabricated steel and concrete which could be floated into position and sunk, at one point to a depth of 110 feet.

The proposed tube would stretch from the San Francisco Ferry Building to an eastern portal to be located on the Oakland Mole and would accommodate electric trains speeding up to 80 miles an hour and moving between the downtown areas of the two cities in 11 minutes.

Boy Scouts Hold Jubliee Camporee

Boy Scouts of the Mt. Diablo Council joined in a Jubilee Camporee in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America on a recent weekend. This event was held at the U. S. Naval Ammunition Depot in Concord.

Troops checked in at the site from 3:30 p.m. on, on Friday and awards made by a committee under the direction of Paul Dreyer of Lafayette, camping chairman of the Meridian district.

Troops competed for first, second and third place ribbons in scouting skills events, under the direction of Leo Fancey of Antioch. In addition there were skills demonstrations.

On Friday evening at 8:30 a campfire was held and was open to the public.

Arrangements for facilities at the base and establishment of headquarters at the camporee were under the direction of S. W. "Sandy" Ferguson, camping chairman of Concord.

Competitive activity demonstrations and a concluding awards program were held Saturday.

Orinda Law Professor Is Named Boalt Hall Dean

Frank C. Newman, professor of law who lives at 53 Acacia Drive, Orinda, has been named dean of the Schol of Law of the University of California, Berkeley, with the appointment effective next year.

The announcement was made Monday by President Clark Kerr and Chancellor Glenn T. Seaborg of the university.

NEWMAN will succeed Dean William L. Prosser, who has asked to be relieved of the administrative post in order to devote full time to teaching and legal scholarship. Professor Prosser has served as dean since 1948, and he will continue as Elizabeth Josselyn Boalt professor of law.

The new dean will assume his post July 1, 1961. A 1941 graduate of Boalt Hall and the first alumnus to be named dean, Professor Newman was selected after a nation-wide search to find the most suitable successor to Dean Prosser, according to the joint announcement.

Leaders of the national and state bars, educators and others recommended Professor Newman, whose selection was unanimously endorsed by the faculty of Boalt Hall.

DEAN PROSSER is an internationally recognized authority on the law of torts and is presently reporter for the Second Restatement of Torts. He is immediate past president of the Association of American Law Schools.

A member of the Berkeley faculty since 1946, Professor Newman has been active in university, community, bar association and governmental affairs. Specializing in the legislative process and administrative law, he is the co-author of a textbook on the legislative process and his published numerous articles on legal and governmental subjects.

Newman is a native of Eureka, and he attended public schools there and in Los Angeles County. He received his A.B. degree summa cum laude from Dartmouth in 1938, his LL.B. from Boalt Hall in 1941 and his LL.M. and J.S.D. from Columbia University following World War II.

THE NEXT DEAN of the Berkeley law school has been a visiting professor at the Harvard Law School, the University of Washington and the Salzburg Seminar in American Studies. In 1957-58 he was one of the first two lawyers chosen to be Fellows at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford.

Professor Newman and his wife have two sons and two daughters. One of the sons, Bob, was the Miramonte High School foreign exchange student to Italy last year.

R. L. Pearson Now in Germany

Army Private Richard L. Pearson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Pearson, 2860 Putnam Boulevard, is a member of the 144th Signal Battalion in Germany.

Pearson is a 1959 graduate of Pleasant Hill High School.

Sacramento Calls

S. Bruce Copeland, Walnut Creek representatives for Connecticut General Life Insurance Company for several years, has accepted the managership of the company's new office in Sacramento.

Driving too far in one day is dangerous, warns the National Automobile Club.

Anyone for CREA Director?

Would you like to be a state director of the California Real Estate Association?

The Contra Costa board is asking its brokers and salesmen this question. Appointments will be made next month.

Raeltors who feel they are qualified to represent the local board at quarterly meetings are asked to submit their names, said Wayne Bailey, board executive vice president.

Bailey also announced that the board of directors has approved a reduction of the Multiple Listing Service service fee from five per cent to two and a half per cent.

MLS committee chairman is Ted Poehler.

He said, "It is hoped that the reduction will encourage cooperation.

"Under the old rate, cooperation has been penalized while the cost of a listing's production is the same whether it is cooperative or not."

He added, "Since the extent of the cut cannot be properly estimated in terms of money paid to the board, the policy will be reviewed at the end of the year."

New Officers Elected By County Democrats

The Contra Costa County Democratic Central Committee elected George F. McGrath of Crockett as chairman at the regular biennial reorganization meeting held in Martinez last week.

An employee of C and H Sugar Company, McGrath succeeds Mrs. Mary McKeown of Richmond. He is a member of the Valona Fire District board of commissioners and secretary of Local 6 ILWU.

Other officers elected were Gilbert D. Cartwright, Richmond accountant, vice chairman; Richard P. Chapot of Martinez, state inheritance tax appraiser, administrative secretary; Mrs. McKeown, recording secretary and John McCormick Jr. of Antioch, Dow Chemical Company credit union president, treasurer.

THE COUNCIL endorsed Senator John F. Kennedy for president, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson for vice president and the platform adopted at the Democratic national convention.

Also endorsed by the council were State Senator George Miller and Assemblyman Jerome Waldie for reelection. The council supported the election of Douglas Page to the sixth congressional district and John T. Knox to the 11th assembly district.

The council went on record as being opposed to Proposition 15 on the November ballot, which calls for reapportionment of state senatorial districts. This measure

Preventive Spraying Keeps Plant Disease Controlled

Like healthy humans, healthy plants sometimes run afoul of some "bug" and, as with humans, if the trouble is treated in the early stages it is more effectively controlled. And if a bit of preventive spraying keeps plant disease at nozzle's length . . . well, you get the point.

According to the California Association of Nurserymen, however, not many gardeners get the point. Many would-be green thumbers wait until it's too late to discuss their plants' symptoms with the "doctor" — their local nurseryman.

PARTICULARLY in summertime insects are rampant. The wise gardener will keep on the alert for tell-tale signs of lawn moth, aphis, earwig, etc., and reach for the spray gun at the first sign of invasion.

Preventive spraying for disease is simple. You merely turn a spray gun on roses, begonias or other trouble spots before the trouble appears. You'll find, too, that it takes less spray to ward off attack than it does to clear one up.

With modern improvements in spray formulas and equipment, the task is no longer one to dread. C.A.N. members carry sprays and dusting powders to curb just about everything short of the plague! They also carry combinations of these — multi-purpose sprays — that do two or more jobs in one. Some gardeners prefer these. Others'(more practiced) prefer to mix their own from separate bottles.

HOWEVER it's done, you'll want to follow the two basic rules for spraying. First, do a thorough job, making sure the foliage is soaked both top and bottom; and the stalks or trunk are wet right down to ground level. The underneath side of foliage is frequently a breeding spot for such problems as mildew—so don't neglect it.

Second, be cautious—follow directions on the label. Sprays are not to be used carelessly. Don't shoot into the wind. In fact, best not spray if it's windy at all. And don't spray with children or pets around.

AS A RULE, it's a good idea to apply pest controls in early morning. When dew is present, it aids in spreading spray evenly; or in using dusts, dew helps it to cling to foliage. Also, it lessens any probability of burning.

Spray discriminately to keep your garden "in the green of health"!

Royal Danish Ballet Will Be At Opera House

The Royal Danish Ballet, the only ballet in the world which can present a repertory from three centuries performed in the style of their own periods, will come to the War Memorial Opera House in San Francisco next Friday for five performances.

"Romeo and Juliet" will be presented both Friday and Saturday evenings, and at a Saturday matinee performance. Sunday San Francisco will see "La Sylphide," a Scottish legend in two acts; "Konservatoriet," a picture of the French style at its height, and "Napoli," the celebrated Bournonville's most famous ballet.

The closing performance on Monday, August 15, will offer "Whims of Cupid," a ballet comique of the 18th century; "Napoli" and "La Sylphide."

Seats are now on sale for all performances.

Will Attend Meeting

Lamont D. Stetzer of Walnut Creek will attend the Security Life and Accident Company annual convention and training conference in Estes Park, Colo., next week.

Army Training

Sp4 Clifford M. Silva, of 2562 Myre Dell Road, Walnut Creek is attending two weeks of summer training with the 483rd Transportation Battalion at Coronado Naval Base in San Diego Bay.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE
To All New Car Buyers

WALNUT CREEK RENAULT & PEUGEOT

is starting their Renault Dauphine Sales Carnival on Wednesday, Aug. 3, 1960. This is how it works. You come in and purchase your new Renault Dauphine from us and we pick a winner from every 30 buyer contestants. In other words, you or one of the 30 contestants will receive their car free except for tax and license. (One chance in 30). We will notify the entrants when the 30th car is sold and all contestants will be invited down to our dealership for the drawing which will be conducted in their presence. At this time, the winner will receive a check for his car or he may have the option of taking another Renault Dauphine off the floor.

SEE YOU SOON!

WALNUT CREEK

SIDEWALK BAZAAR

TODAY & TOMORROW

THE LOOK and sound of old Japan will be seen by Walnut Creek Sidewalk Bazaar visitors this weekend. Mr. and Mrs. George Lorentzen, Americans newly returned from Japan, will perform as Chin-Don-Ya players. Japanese television stations and magazines featured them.

WC Bazaar Entertainers Amazed the Japanese

An ex-Navy man and his wife, who so surprised the Japanese that they were interviewed by Tokyo television stations and featured in magazines, will provide novel excitement during Walnut Creek's "Sidewalk Bazaar" days, today and tomorrow.

After a laborious 45 minutes of putting on makeup and costumes, George and Dorothy Lorentzen, Walnut Creek residents since March, will roam the streets as do the traditional Japanese "Chin-Don-Ya" players who for centuries have been oriental hucksters.

As Americans in Japan, the Lorentzens with several friends learned the "Chin-Don-Ya" art from an elderly Japanese whose father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and other ancestors had followed the profession.

THEY AT first hand intended their performances only for fellow Shriners, but the amazement of the Japanese and the resulting popularity of their act persuaded them to make it a regular thing in their "home" city of Yokosuka.

Mrs. Lorentzen said, "The usual Chin-Don-Ya player is not too well off, financially, in Japan, and the people there were at first amazed that a group of Americans would be interested in this. And they were pleased that Americans would become interested in their history and willing to become involved in their traditions."

Visitors to the "Sidewalk Bazaar" days will be able to see and hear the drums and sing song of the Lorentzens Friday night from about 8 to 9, downtown, and the couple will probably play again Saturday.

SAID MRS. Lorentzen, "I hope people won't make too big a thing of this. We have found that the Japanese like our performance even more than Americans, probably because they are familiar with the Chin-Don-Ya players."

The Chin-Don-Ya players originally were created as a poise making group to attract attention to the famous Kabuki player of Japan, and in later centuries they performed by the thousands in Japanese cities, calling attention to the opening of new stores and special occasions.

The Lorentzens would probably still be performing for their Oriental friends, except that the husband, who went to work for Military Sea Transport Service on retirement from the Navy, was transferred to the United States.

Said Mrs. Lorentzen, "We have spent most of our time just getting our house and yard (on Layman Court) fixed up.

Cora, 9, Sets The Tempo in Suburbia Today

From Margaret Halsey's suburban diary, This Demi-Paradise, come some entries for the month of August, when the weather provides the theme, a spirited nine-year-old named Cora sets the tempo, and an understanding husband named Harry patiently tries to apply the brakes. You will meet the Fitzgibbons in this month's supplement to your Sun, which will come to you August 5.

There are several surprises for summer in this issue of Suburbia Today.

Sun (tan) worshippers, for example, are warned by Dr. Hyman Goldstein, to take it easy—a handsome tan can be beneficial only if accumulated slowly, with full regard for the dangers involved in too-sudden and intense a baking.

Then, there's a story by garden expect John Brimer, who points out that now is the time to plan and seed a lawn that will be a beautiful mass of green in the spring of 1961.

Two Model Plane Flyers at Meet

Steve Garcia, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Garcia, 3235 Judith Lane, Lafayette, and Dale W. Root, 38, of 6 Martha Road, Orinda, are among more than 1600 entrants in the national model airplane championships who registered at the Dallas Naval Air Station, Grand Prairie, Texas. The meet will run through Sunday.

Competition in the national is divided into three age groups: Junior class, open to those less than 16 years old; senior class, open to contestants between 16 and 21; and open class for contestants over 21.

The contestants will fly their models in events such as free-flight gas to radio-control, control-line speed, jet and team racing contests.

Contestants winning first, second and third place in each event will be awarded a trophy.

The meet is conducted by the Academy of Model Aeronautics of Washington, D.C., model aircraft governing body. The U.S. Navy is acting as host.

Many People Gather as Pony Is Led Away

W. R. Shepherd of 2300 Danville Highway, Walnut Creek, sold his pinto pony to the very first person who came to the door, after his want ad appeared in The Sun.

"And other people were waiting to buy the horse, while it was being taken away," said Shepherd.

And he received many calls afterwards.

A big reason there are hundreds of stories like this every week is that Sun classified customers see their ad go into the Sun Shopping News, with a circulation of 40,000 homes, and also automatically into the Walnut Creek Sun, Orinda Sun, Pleasant Hill Sun and Lafayette Sun.

The "5-in-1" treatment draws more readers who know they will find more classifieds in The Sun than in any other local newspaper.

A 14-word ad costs only $1.60. Place your ad by phone. Call YE 4-500, AT 4-4444, or CL 4-4343.

Free Movie If You Are In Sun Ad!

Don't be haphazard while looking through The Sun advertisements and display sections in this issue, telling about Walnut Creek's first "Sidewalk Bazaar," to be held today and tomorrow!

The ads, carefully prepared and based on bargains which have even amazed the advertising staff, also contain the names of many local residents — perhaps your name is in there!

If it is, clip it out with the ad and take it with identification to the El Rey Theater in Walnut Creek or the Park Theater in Lafayette—that alone will admit you and a friend.

A free movie is not a bad way to top off a day at the Sidewalk Bazaar, where the emphasis is on sales and public astisfaction and a completely new idea in merchandizing is being tried out.

The Sun ads will give you a good idea of what to expect! Your "Bazaar" preview is in this edition!

Louise Hebner Will Teach at Acalanes

Louise Anne Hebner will begin her teaching career this fall at Acalanes High School.

Miss Hebner is one of nearly 50 new teachers who received their credentials from the University of California, Davis, this year. She will teach homemaking classes at Acalanes.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony D. Hebner of 4317 Vantage Avenue, North Hollywood.

Lafayette Bridge Club Tells Scores

The Lafayette Bridge Club has announced scores from recent play, as follows: North-South: 1. Celina Francis and Wayman Jackson, 165; 2. Gil Farrell and Elizabeth Smith, 133; 3. Marguerite Davis and Lota Frahm, 128.

East-West: 1. Arnold Salka and Dave Willmer, 173; 2. Helen Shipley and Betty Anderson, 154; 3. Clare Farkasch and Madeline Barott, 153.

The club meets every Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Lafayette School, located on Moraga Road one block off Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

Gardeners Must Keep Alert Now

For gardeners, here are some points to check this week:

Keep feeding and watering chrysanthemums and stake tall growers now before they grow themselves out of shape.

August is an active month for lawn moths. Watch for brown spots in well watered lawns that shouldn't have them. Run for the insecticide if the spots or moth larvae show up.

You can start planting winter sweet peas this month. Dig a deep trench and layer six inches of manure in the bottom before adding soil and seed.

Brighten your garden with gallon cans of yellow marguerite and blue aster frikarti. There's no quicker way to plenty of color.

For fall color, now is the time to put in bedding plants. Your California Association of Nurserymen has a fine selection.

A NICE PLACE to walk, maybe, but not particularly safe. This young lady, who is enjoying a stroll with her dog, could walk on the shoulder of the road facing traffic and she would be better off. It behooves those of us who drive to watch our part of the responsibility, too. Especially in these summer days when there is no school. —Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Sidewalk Bazaar is Unique, Eye-Catching!

The most unique and eye-catching promotion event in the history of Walnut Creek merchandising will be the "Walnut Creek Sidewalk Bazaar," today and tomorrow.

Local stores will display and sell special merchandise values from gaily decorated tables and booths located in front of stores, on the sidewalk!

And there will be many costumed clerks to add to the festivities!

WILL THE stores really offer special values on top of everything else?

"You will be amazed at what will be offered, and the prices," said George Webster, chairman of the sponsoring Retail Merchants Committee of the Walnut Creek Area Chamber of Commerce.

'We intend to make the people who visit our stores remember this occasion for its spirit and economy offers, he added, enthusiastically.

The two-day bazaar feature merchandise especially ordered for the event. The "sidewalking" stores have become popular on the west coast during the past two years.

AN AUTHENTICALLY costumed Japanese musical duo will entertain shoppers with traditional music on novel Japanese steel drums. Several stores will also have action-type displays furnished by suppliers.

Ancient and venerable automobiles may be seen parading up and down the streets, with proud motorists clad in appropriate dress.

And the Diablo Art Association plans to display many of its best works, of the high quality which graced the recent "Pageant."

The Sidewalk Bazaar is the third retail event on the committee's 1960 schedule of major, city-wide promotions.

ASSISTING Webster are Frank Pillsbury and Bruce Lee, vice chairmen.

Colorful displays will also be set up by commercial and service agencies in the area.

Merchants will be judged on booth and table decorations for two prizes to be awarded on August 6.

It's Easy to Reach WC! And It's Easy to Park!

Walnut Creek has benefited greatly from the California emphasis on new and better roads, streets and highways, and as a result you can drive to and shop in Walnut Creek with the greatest of ease.

Folks living in Pittsburg, Antioch and Martinez jump into their cars every day and use those wonderful freeways to bring them to Walnut Creek in a matter of minutes.

And folks in the central county area have it even easier.

A couple of minutes and they are in Walnut Creek, and it is then only a matter of picking out your parking place — there are thousands of them — yes, thousands!

The lots are located where you want them—small lots near the stores in the downtown area—there are 15 or 20 such lots.

There is the big municipal lot for hundreds more cars, and it is within easy walking distance to downtown stores. And there are the big Broadway Shopping Center lots, a great expanse, you might say.

This parking is no accident. City officials and private concerns have worked hard to provide it.

Their only desire is that the public enjoy it!

LOOKS JUST LIKE any normal classroom when crafts are the subject for the day, doesn't it? But it isn't. This picture was taken at Shadelands School where children who have cerebral palsy get a chance to learn and lead lives which are as nearly normal as possible. Left to right are, Bobby Trunk, Kenny Reeves, Mike Emery, Gary Kerr, Lucy Wilson and Bobby Hahn. They are participating in a summer recreational program for handicapped children at Shadelands School. Some of the funds which came from your subscriptions to The Sun, and which were turned over to the Contra Costa Crippled Children's Society, will help these youngsters.

Nearly Everyone Reads The Sun

WALNUT CREEK SIDEWALK BAZAAR TODAY & TOMORROW

Clean Your Garage-- And Profit!

"I wouldn't clean out my garage if you paid me!"

How many times has this remark or one like it been heard?

Well, The Sun is offering $10 to the person who checks all the various items which are no longer of use to him and offers a record number of them in The Sun classified columns.

The person who lists the most items in the "Miscellaneous for sale" column beginning today and running through September 2 will win $10.

He or she will probably gain a lot more just from the replies to the classified!

For this reason, just about everybody who advertises in The Sun want ad section is a winner —for he has dozens of phone calls

Handicapped Boys and Girls Attend Camp

Through the coordinated services of the Contra Costa Cerebral Palsy Society and the County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults 20 eastern county physically handicapped children and youths are attending Easter Seal resident camps.

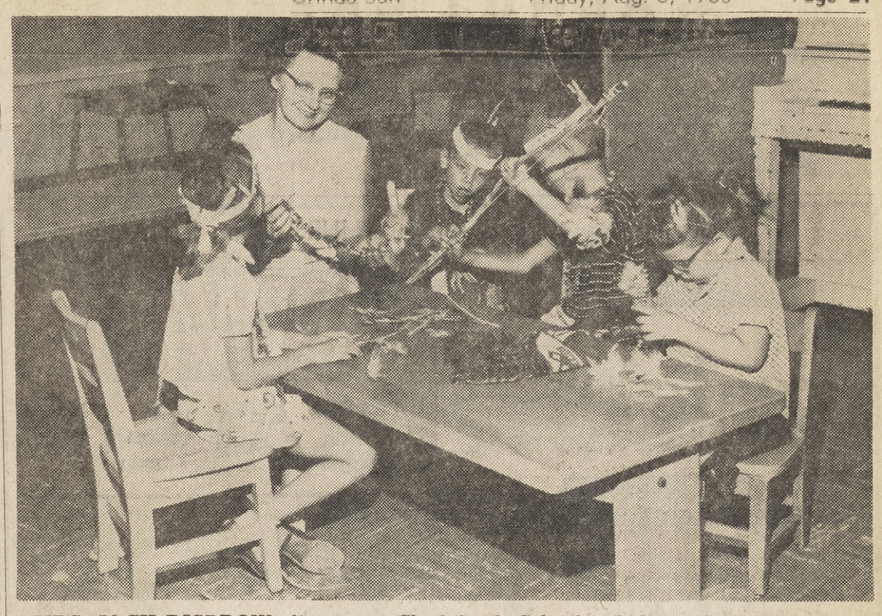
Volunteers who have assisted the Easter Seal Society in processing applications for camp included Mrs. A. J. Roosma of Walnut Creek, Mrs. R. R. Zumwalt of Concord, and Mrs. Austin Henshaw of Walnut Creek.

The two northern California Easter Seal resident camps, located near Boulder Creek and Mountain View, are operated by the Santa Cruz County Easter Seal societies.

The Santa Clara County camp is owned by the Santa Clara County Easter Seal Society, and the buildings, swimming pool, and recreation areas have been constructed with every consideration being given to the special needs of physically handicapped persons.

Camping sessions for physically handicapped children of northern California started on June 27, and will continue until September 3.

Children six to 10 years of age attend one week sessions, those 11 years of age and older attend two week sessions.



MRS. JACK DISBROW, director at Shadelands School, is helping these youngsters with Indian lore. Left to right are Wanda Crowell, Mrs. Disbrow, David Loyd, Jimmy Reeves and Cheryl Winn. Although the money which The Sun turned over to the Contra Costa Crippled Children's Society was put in the general fund for Shadelands School, it is probable that some of it is being used for the benefit of these children. —Sun photos by Bob Rush.

Two Positions For County Open

The Contra Costa County Civil Service department has announced they are recruiting for two positions which are open to residents of the county.

The position of operating engineer, at the salary of $530 to $584 per month is open. Operating engineers are assigned to either the county hospital or the building maintenance department.

Qualifications include completion of the 12th grade and two years of experience in the operation of steam boilers and in the maintenance of plumbing, refrigeration and electrical apparatus. More engineer experience may be substituted for the required high school education.

Also open is the position of porter at a salary of $295 to $358 per month. Porters are assigned to the county hospital and the work involves manual institutional duties. Candidates must be able to read and write English. This examination is open to male applicants only.

Final date for filing applications for these examinations is Aug. 12. Applicants must have been residents of the county for at least one year. Further information may be obtained by writing to the Contra Costa County Civil Service Department, Room 229, Hall of Records, Martinez; or call AC 8-3000, extension 415.

Cancel That Want Ad by Monday, 4 p.m.

Deadline for cancellation of want ads in The Sun is each Monday at 4 p.m., announced Mrs. Betsy Matlock, classified manager.

This is also the deadline for re-running a classified ad which ran the previous week, she said.

Of course, The Sun's deadline for placing a want ad is each Tuesday morning at 10.

The "Too Late to Classify" section remains open each Tuesday until 12 noon.

Osmundsen is Home Council President

Richard Osmundsen of Custom Construction Company, Walnut Creek, was named chairman of the Home Improvement Council of the Greater Bay Area for the coming year.

Osmundsen has been active in this council for three years and also has served in other builder groups in the county.

"We will undertake a somewhat different program for this coming year," said Osmundsen.

"Our August meeting will be a field trip to General Electric Company, Burlingame, to learn and to review the fine points in kitchen remodeling.

"We will cover 'Estimating and Bidding' during our September meeting, and will follow that in October with a meeting on 'Profit Planning and Budgeting.'"

Drag Strip Is Discussed

Art Bacigalupo of the Pleasant Hill Lions Club spoke July 18 at a meeting of the Diablo Drag Association.

Present were representative members of the Road Masters, Martinez, the Road Saints, Pacheco, and the Exterminators of Walnut Creek.

Bacigalupo spoke on the problem of finding financial backing for a strip project. Since once a strip is started, it is financially independent, through gate receipts and concessions, no more money would be needed other than the initial cost of the land and timing equipment.

The association could start to pay back an initial loan as soon as the strip began to operate. A list of tentative strip locations was made, and club publicity was discussed.

A constitution committee was formed, consisting of representatives of all car clubs in attendance.

The representative from the Road Masters is Randy Lindsay of 545 Highland Drive, Danville; from the Road Saints, Doug Dawson of 255 Center Avenue, Pacheco; from the Exterminators, Buzz Vaughn of 1130 Monument Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

Also on the committee are President Frans Scholin, Vice President Dick Rogers, and Secretary Judy Rogers, all of the Diablo Drag Association.

The constitution committee will meet Monday nights before the regular bi-weekly meetings, until a complete constitution is drafted. Then the constitution will be brought before the members for a vote.

The next meeting of the Diablo Drag Association is scheduled for Monday, August 1, at the residence of Frans Scholin, corner of Geary and Jones Road, Walnut Creek.

Lafayette Lions To Give Eighth Annual Barbecue

Preliminary plans for the Lafayette Lions Club eighth annual barbecue have been announced by club president Ted Stein, following a directors' meeting last Wednesday.

The event, which raises the bulk of the Lions' money for charitable purposes, will be held September 17 at Wildwood Acres in Hunsaker Canyon.

Stein announced the following committee appointments to stage the gathering: Stan Adams, refreshments; construction, Alvin Medau, Charles N. Meyers and C. J. Krattenmaker; door prizes, Harry Andrews and Harold Lofton; food, Stein; finance, Jim Amos, Lowell Arbogast and Lou Repetto; entertainment, Danny Dys.

General chairman for the barbecue is John Maddux.
